Drivers Told To 'Follow Common Sense' On Amber Light Law

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

City officials have received a number of objections to the new traffic regulations forbidding the crossing of an intersection on an amber light but most objections, according to the Police Department traffic division, stem from a lack of understanding of the purpose of the law.

The amber light regulation was included in an entirely new traffic code adopted by the City Council several weeks ago. According to city officials, the regulation on the amber light appears to be the only objectionable one.

That new law was criticized in a letter to the City Council from Mrs. E. E. Wolfe, 2010 F.

"On two occasions," she wrote, "I have had to make such abrupt stops that they (other passengers in the car) were dangerously jolted."

Sudden Stop

The driver of a car, she stated, is able to brace himself when he sees the amber light but other riders have no warning of the sudden stop. What good is the amber light, she asked, when there is no warning of it first?

"We have had a number of objections to the rule," said Capt. Orren Graves of the traffic division, "and have given everyone the same explanation. The purpose of the law is not to throw anyone through the windshield of a car or to catch conscientious drivers in unavoidable violations but rather, to stop the driver who sees the amber light 50 or 60 feet away and speeds up to get through the intersection before traffic comes from the other direction.

'Good Judgment'

"Drivers should just follow common sense and good judgment. If they are at the intersection when the light turns amber and cannot make a safe stop, they should go on through the intersection."

Mayor Clark Jeary stated that he has also received a number of objections to the law.

"The city attorney's office and the Police Department," said Jeary, "insist the rule is workable so I am willing to give it a fair trial."

Jeary said he attempted to follow the new rule exactly before it was adopted and found that he would have been subject to arrest for a violation several times. According to Graves, no tickets have been issued to date for violation of the new amber light rule.

Ike Reaffirms His Faith In Chiefs Of Armed Forces

...Senate GOP Leaders Agree Hearings To Continue

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — President Eisenhower Tuesday reaffirmed his faith in the nation's armed forces with the declaration that "we are still confident" in them "from their secretaries and their high commanders on down to the last private in the ranks."

With Secretary of the Army Stevens seated behind him, the President made no reference to the Army-McCarthy hearings in a brief, informal address to a police-estimated crowd of 30,000 in Charlotte's Freedom Park. But the reference to the civilian chiefs in Stevens' presence seemed to indicate the President's continued faith in his Army secretary in his dispute with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Eisenhower, accompanied by Stevens on his flight from Washington, came here to help Mecklenburg (Charlotte) County commemorate the 179th anniversary of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence.

Referring to the Mecklenburg Declaration, the President said that if "the story book record of that particular moment in history 179 years ago has been disputed by some...I believe that is not important. The important thing is that here, this great segment of America wants to be known as originators of our historical documents of freedom."

Comparison Made

He declared that if such a meeting as Charlotte's Freedom Day rally "should occur in the Soviet countries, it would be there to hear a doctrine propounded by the rulers. It would come there by orders sent out by the dictator; it would cheer when told to cheer and leave when told to leave, and go exactly where its members were told to go. Here we do not do that. And so we have the true value of a meeting, fully expressed, because people are here because they want to be."

If there was any resentment in this segregated city over the Supreme Court ruling outlawing segregated public schools, it was not reflected during the President's address.

The President, joining the crowd in a fried chicken picnic lunch, seemed in a jovial mood.

Hearings To Resume Mundt, Ferguson Say

WASHINGTON (INS) — Senate Republican leaders agreed Tuesday that the McCarthy-Army hearings will continue regardless of whether President Eisenhower refuses to relax his secrecy order which has stymied and halted the televised sessions for one week.

The White House indicated that Mr. Eisenhower will refuse to revoke the directive, but Attorney General Brownell was reported studying the situation to see whether to recommend a change.

Senate GOP Policy Chairman Homer Ferguson (R-Mich) told newsmen he expects the public hearings to be resumed.

Ferguson made his statement after a policy committee meeting at which Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee reported to the Republican leaders on the impasse.

The subcommittee recessed the hearings Monday for one week after Democratic members charged "white-wash" and claimed the sessions never would resume.

After reporting to the policy committee, Munde told newsmen:

"Everybody who expressed an opinion was in agreement . . . that this was not the end of the hearings."

Asked if there is "any graceful way to end the hearings now," Mundt said: "I don't know of any."

Then he added: "Yes there is —get all the evidence and write a report."

President, Stevens Shake Hands

President Eisenhower and Army Secretary Robert Stevens shake hands at National Airport in Washington Tuesday upon their return from a flight to Charlotte, N. C., where the Chief Executive declared — with Stevens sitting close by — that America is "still proud of our armed services" from the civilian chiefs on down to the enlisted men. The reference to civilian leaders seemed to indicate the President's continued support of his Army secretary in his dispute with Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) (AP Wirephoto.)

Soc. Sec. Rolls Add Okayed

House Unit Approves Plan To Half Million

WASHINGTON (AP)— The House Ways and Means Committee decided tentatively Tuesday to extend social security coverage to more than half a million domestic workers, ministers and federal employees who are now excluded.

This was the first congressional action on President Eisenhower's far-reaching proposals to expand coverage and boost social security benefits and taxes.

The committee, taking up the bill by Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-NY) section-by-section, is expected to approve the program pretty much as urged by Eisenhower, although many features are controversial.

The committee deferred action on the President's plan to extend coverage to about 3,600,000 farm operators and 2,200,000 farm laborers. A spokesman said the administration was to supply more information.

The committee didn't reach sections which would bring social security tax and benefit coverage also to about half a million doctors, lawyers and other professional people, and 3,500,000 state and local government employees—although it is generally expected to approve them, too.

Under present law, domestic workers are covered only if they receive $50 from a single employer and work 24 days for him in any three month period. The new proposal removes the requirement as to the number of days and covers all domestic workers who receive $50 a quarter from any one employer.

Ministers Eligible

Officials estimated this would bring about 200,000 domestic workers into the system and would expand coverage for others where only part of their work is covered now.

Another move approved extends coverage to ministers where both the minister and their employers agree to come under the system. Officials said this would make about 200,000 to 250,000 ministers eligible.

Churches would have to waive their federal tax exemption to make the employer's contribution required under the system.

The committee also voted to bring in federal employees in home loan banks, Coast Guard exchanges, and temporary postal workers, and all other federal executive department workers who are not now covered by some federal retirement system.

It agreed to extend coverage also to American citizens employed by American employers on vessels operating under foreign flags.

Clapp Ends His Term As TVA Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gordon R. Clapp ended his term as chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) at the close of business Tuesday without indication from the White House when a successor will be named.

Former President Harry Truman nominated Clapp to the $15,000 a year position in 1946. Clapp has been with TVA in various posts since the giant power agency was created in 1933.

Several persons have been mentioned as possible nominees for Clapp's post, but the White House has given no indication of the likely appointee.

Until Clapp's successor is nominated and confirmed by the Senate, TVA will operate without a chairman and with only two members of its normally three-member board.

Waverly's Rural Fire District OK'd

The Lancaster County Board of Commissioners approved Tuesday the creation of a Waverly Rural Fire Protection District.

The district approved Tuesday was enlarged from the original request to include an area to the west toward Lincoln, where the freeholders are on the Lincoln phone exchange.

The original district included freeholders who objected to the Waverly district who had contributed to the Eagle district and were on the Eagle exchange.

Area included in the revised district is two full sections and parts of four others in the Stevens Creek precinct, and one full and one fractional section in Stevens Creek plus parts of two other Stevens Creek sections in addition to one and a half sections in Lancaster Precinct.

Reds Hit In March To Delta

30,000 Rebels Said Moving From Fortress

By MARVIN STONE

HANOI (INS)—French bombers and fighters hammered Tuesday at a Red-led Vietminh Army of 30,000 men reportedly marching on the Red River Delta, strategic heart of the French war effort in Indo-China.

The French planes pounded troop convoys and artillery moving eastward from Dien Bien Phu toward the delta and heavily-guarded Hanoi, the prize city of northern Vietnam.

The main target of the air assault, the French announced, was route 41, slicing eastward from Dien Bien Phu to Sonla, 70 miles away. Sonla is 130 miles west of Hanoi.

Other planes hammered Vietminh troop concentrations which have been pushing closer to Hanoi and Haiphong, port on the Gulf of Tonkin and vital funnel in the French supply system for its network of bases in the delta.

Decisive Battle

It was the first official acknowledgement by the French that the Vietminh troops, fresh from their victory at Dien Bien Phu, were pushing on the key northeast corner of Indo-China hard by the Red Chinese frontier, for what may be the decisive battle of the more than seven-year-old war.

It came a Gen. Paul Ely, French chief of staff, reached Saigon from Paris and immediately started a round of conferences with U.S. and military men to determine the extent of the military crisis in Indo-China and help provide the facts for consideration of further aid to the French.

Ely saw Gen. Henri-Eugene Navarre, French commander in Indo-China, and also met with Maj. Gen. John O'Daniel, chief of the U.S. military mission in Indo-China.

The French announced the resumption of air strikes on the Dien Bien Phu-Sonla road began Tuesday morning, for the first time since it had been neutralized by the May 13 agreement at Dien Bien Phu to permit the evacuation of French Union wounded from the fallen fortress.

Eighteen Evacuated

Nineteen more wounded were evacuated from Dien Bien Phu Tuesday, bringing the total to 30.

The French broke off the agreement and decided to resume bombings after the Vietminh began moving troops on the road.

The high command said bombers blasted trucks loaded with troops between Dien Bien Phu and Tuan Giago, 30 miles to the northeast, and a few hours later caught 30 more rebel trucks near Moc Chau, midway between Dien Bien Phu and Hanoi.

Later, still another convoy was strafed a few miles west.

White Cane Drive Nets $1,106 Here

A total of $1,106 was raised in the Lincoln Braille Club's annual White Cane drive. Of this amount $862.54 was raised through street sales in downtown Lincoln and at the Statehouse.

The remainder was raised through drives in University Place and Bethany and private contributions.

The club has a $5,000 mortgage on the building which they recently purchased in University Place. The money raised through the drive will be enough to pay the first installment on the mortgage and for the renovation of the building, Melvin McArtor, club president, said.

This is the largest amount ever raised in the annual drive. The previous high total was a little more than $800.

Groups participating in the campaign included Delta Gamma Sorority, active and alumnae chapters; Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity, active chapter; Bethany and University Place Lions Clubs and Wesleyan University Panhellenic group.

'Harmony' GOP Man Wins Vote

Leader-Wood Face Penn. Primary Fight

PHILADELPHIA (Wednesday) (AP)—Lloyd H. Wood, organization-backed "harmony" candidate, early today won the Pennsylvania Republican gubernatorial nomination in a walkaway. George M. Leader, Democratic state policy committee choice, apparently earned the right to oppose Wood in the November election by holding an early lead into the morning hours.

It was a primary marked by light voting and was a complete victory for both Republican and Democratic organizations.

With 4,268 of 8,589 precincts counted in the Republican gubernatorial primary, Wood had 361,745. His independent opponents were far behind. Thomas S. Stephenson had 77,140 and Gordon F. Chamberlin 25,099.

Reports from 4,291 precincts in the Democratic primary gave Leader 151,772 votes to 86,180 for William D. McClelland and 16,992 for Charles J. Schmitt. McClelland had the backing of some labor leaders.

"No Surprise"

GOP National Committeeman G. Mason Owlett, one of the slatemakers, said he was "well pleased" with the victory of the entire "harmony" ticket.

"It's no surprise to me," he said. "I felt certain they would win."

There appeared to be only a slim chance the GOP slate would be cracked. In the race for three Superior Court spots, Judges Robert E. Woodside, George W. Griffith and Ralph T. Bell were substantially ahead of State Sen. John M. Walker, the strongest of four opposing candidates.

Atty Gen. Frank F. Truscott was rolling up a lead of nearly three to one for the lieutenant governor nomination. The closest fight was for secretary of internal affairs with Mrs. Gaynelle M. Dixon ahead by nearly 3 to 2 over incumbent Secretary William S. Livengood Jr.

Bike License Deadline Set Next Monday

Bicycle riders without 1954 license tags will be considered in violattion beginning Monday, May 24, Capt. Clinton C. Hurd, traffic safety education officer, announced.

More than 4,500 bikes were licensed, he added.

Talmadge Is Busy 'Reviewing Troops'

ATLANTA (INS)—The telephone rang at the Georgia Executive Mansion hundreds of times in the wake of the U.S. Supreme Court decision abolishing segregation and Gov. Herman Talmadge told what happened.

"A goodly number of those calls came from up north," the governor said. "So I told Betty (Mrs. Herman Talmadge) to tell those Yankees I was busy reviewing Confederate troops and didn't have time to come to the phone."

High School Tax Levies Down, But Average Up

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

High school district tax levies for the year 1953-54 are slightly lower than in 1952-53, the office of State Superintendent F. B. Decker said Tuesday. However, when all of the 6,113 districts, including elementary schools, are considered the average levy increased from 8.83 mills last year to 9.14 mills.

The Class I districts (elementary) showed an average increase from 7.48 to 7.94 mills. The number of these districts decreased from 5,871 to 5,627 during the year. Levies ran the gamut from nothing in 314 districts to a high of 50.50 mills.

Last year there were 340 districts with no levies and the highest levy was 88 mills in Dist. 52 in Brown County. This year the Brown County district to 23.3 mills.

Class 2 schools, those having both elementary and high school and a population of 1,000 or less, have an average levy of 25.23 mills as compared with 25.93 mills last year. Brownsville has the highest, 60.75 mills, and the lowest is 2.35. There are 307 districts of this size.

The 136 Class 3 districts, having a population of 1,000 to 50,000, showed a drop in average levies from 26.74 to 22.74 mills. The levies range from 7 to 37.40 mills.

Class 4 or the Lincoln district showed a decline from 24 to 22.57 mills and Class 5, Omaha district, dropped from 15.3 to 13 mills. Class 6, county and rural high school districts, showed an increase from 8.38 to 8.66 mills. There are 31 in the state.

The increase in rural levies and decrease in urban levies caused department members to speculate that valuations in urban areas had been increased more than the rural area.

The average levy for general school purposes in the 476 high school districts was 23.39 mills as compared with an average of 25 mills last year.

The total of 6,113 districts of the state as compared with 6,360 last year indicates that the consolidation program is making headway. The Class I districts with no mill levy in many instances are using up surpluses preparatory to consolidation, the reports indicated.

Endorsement Question Will Go To GOP Convention At Fremont

By SALLY ADAMS
Star Staff Writer

The question of endorsement of candidates at the Republican pre-primary convention is under study by the convention's committee on procedure.

They will meet Sunday night or Monday morning to prepare a recommendation on the question to be submitted to the convention Monday morning in Fremont.

"The reaction seems to be all against the endorsing of candidates," W. W. Spear, state Republican chairman, said. "I haven't heard anyone for it."

Spear pointed out that there may be additional filings following the convention which could not be acted upon if the endorsement policy were adopted.

Even if the convention does vote to endorse candidates, the endorsement cannot appear on the ballot according to an act passed by the last Legislature.

Members of the committee on procedure are C. J. Reynolds of Fremont, chairman; M. E. Rasdal of Ogallala, John Jirdon of Morrill, Max Denney of Fairbury and Ted S. Hook of Wayne.

Spear said he still has had no word from Sen. Joseph McCarthy regarding his scheduled address at 8 p.m. Monday. Spear said if the hearings in Washington are reconvened Monday as scheduled, McCarthy probably won't be in Nebraska. However, he said, no other arrangements have been made for a substitute.

The program for the convention, to be held at the City Auditorium in Fremont:

8 to 10 a.m.—Registration.
10 a.m.—Spear to welcome group. Walter S. Witthoff, new chairman of the Dodge County Central Committee, to speak.
10:30 a.m.—Clarence A. Davis, solicitor for the Department of Interior, keynote address. Joseph S. Wishart of Lincoln, state party treasurer, to introduce Davis.
11 a.m.—Report of committee on procedure. If endorsement recommended, convention to vote.
Noon recess.
2 p.m.—Committee reports. Candidates to speak briefly if no endorsement action taken.
Adjournment.
8 p.m.—McCarthy to speak.

Scattered Showers Help, Hurt

Up To 1 Inch Recorded; Some Fields Need Sun

Widely-scattered and highly-variable showers fell over Nebraska Tuesday, putting land in better shape for corn-planting in some areas and setting back planting activity elsewhere.

Although rainfall totals ran around an inch at Grafton and Auburn, most other points through eastern Nebraska received a half inch or less. The showers fell so unevenly that Sutton, about eight miles from Grafton received no rain. Crete had only .08 while Lincoln had .44.

The showers were reported as far west as Imperial where .30 rain and some light pea-sized hail fell. A weather observer there said he doubted if the light hail would cause damage to crops.

The rainfall totals in Lancaster County varied around the half-inch mark, with points in the northern side of the county getting more than .60.

While the rain was welcome in most places, there was a note of complaint from Humboldt where one resident observed, "We already have all the rain we need here, what we need is some clear weather to let the farmers get into the fields."

Forecasters predicted that the rain would continue Wednesday. Scattered showers or thunderstorms were foreseen for the west late Wednesday afternoon, spreading to the central portion Wednesday night.

Maximum temperatures Wednesday should register near 70 in the extreme east to 80 in the Panhandle.

Drivers Told To 'Follow Common Sense' On Amber Light Law

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

City officials have received a number of objections to the new traffic regulations forbidding the crossing of an intersection on an amber light but most objections, according to the Police Department traffic division, stem from a lack of understanding of the purpose of the law.

The amber light regulation was included in an entirely new traffic code adopted by the City Council several weeks ago. According to city officials, the regulation on the amber light appears to be the only objectionable one.

That new law was criticized in a letter to the City Council from Mrs. E. E. Wolfe, 2010 F.

"On two occasions," she wrote, "I have had to make such abrupt stops that they (other passengers in the car) were dangerously jolted."

Sudden Stop

The driver of a car, she stated, is able to brace himself when he sees the amber light but other riders have no warning of the sudden stop. What good is the amber light, she asked, when there is no warning of it first?

"We have had a number of objections to the rule," said Capt. Orren Graves of the traffic division, "and have given everyone the same explanation. The purpose of the law is not to throw anyone through the windshield of a car or to catch conscientious drivers in unavoidable violations but rather, to stop the driver who sees the amber light 50 or 60 feet away and speeds up to get through the intersection before traffic comes from the other direction.

'Good Judgment'

"Drivers should just follow common sense and good judgment. If they are at the intersection when the light turns amber and cannot make a safe stop, they should go on through the intersection."

Mayor Clark Jeary stated that he has also received a number of objections to the law.

"The city attorney's office and the Police Department," said Jeary, "insist the rule is workable so I am willing to give it a fair trial."

Jeary said he attempted to follow the new rule exactly before it was adopted and found that he would have been subject to arrest for a violation several times. According to Graves, no tickets have been issued to date for violation of the new amber light rule.

Ike Reaffirms His Faith In Chiefs Of Armed Forces

. . . Senate GOP Leaders Agree Hearings To Continue

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — President Eisenhower Tuesday reaffirmed his faith in the nation's armed forces with the declaration that "we are still confident" in them "from their secretaries and their high commanders on down to the last private in the ranks."

With Secretary of the Army Stevens seated behind him, the President made no reference to the Army-McCarthy hearings in a brief, informal address to a police-estimated crowd of 30,000 in Charlotte's Freedom Park. But the reference to the civilian chiefs in Stevens' presence seemed to indicate the President's continued faith in his Army secretary in his dispute with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Eisenhower, accompanied by Stevens on his flight from Washington, came here to help Mecklenburg (Charlotte) County commemorate the 179th anniversary of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence.

Referring to the Mecklenburg Declaration, the President said that if "the story book record of that particular moment in history 179 years ago has been disputed by some... I believe that is not important. The important thing is that here, this great segment of America wants to be known as originators of our historical documents of freedom."

Comparison Made

He declared that if such a meeting as Charlotte's Freedom Day rally "should occur in the Soviet countries, it would be there to hear a doctrine propounded by the rulers. It would come there by orders sent out by the dictator; it would cheer when told to cheer and leave when told to leave, and go exactly where its members were told to go. Here we do not do that. And so we have the true value of a meeting, fully expressed, because people are here because they want to be."

If there was any resentment in this segregated city over the Supreme Court ruling outlawing segregated public schools, it was not reflected during the President's address.

The President, joining the crowd in a fried chicken picnic lunch, seemed in a jovial mood.

Hearings To Resume Mundt, Ferguson Say

WASHINGTON (INS) — Senate Republican leaders agreed Tuesday that the McCarthy-Army hearings will continue regardless of whether President Eisenhower refuses to relax his secrecy order which has stymied and halted the televised sessions for one week.

The White House indicated that Mr. Eisenhower will refuse to revoke the directive, but Attorney General Brownell was reported studying the situation to see whether to recommend a change.

Senate GOP Policy Chairman Homer Ferguson (R-Mich) told newsmen he expects the public hearings to be resumed.

Ferguson made his statement after a policy committee meeting at which Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee reported to the Republican leaders on the impasse.

The subcommittee recessed the hearings Monday for one week after Democratic members charged "white-wash" and claimed the sessions never would resume.

After reporting to the policy committee, Munde told newsmen:

"Everybody who expressed an opinion was in agreement . . . that this was not the end of the hearings."

Asked if there is "any graceful way to end the hearings now," Mundt said: "I don't know of any."

Then he added: "Yes there is—get all the evidence and write a report."

President, Stevens Shake Hands

President Eisenhower and Army Secretary Robert Stevens shake hands at National Airport in Washington Tuesday upon their return from a flight to Charlotte, N. C., where the Chief Executive declared — with Stevens sitting close by— that America is "still proud of our armed services" from the civilian chiefs on down to the enlisted men. The reference to civilian leaders seemed to indicate the President's continued support of his Army secretary in his dispute with Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) (AP Wirephoto.)

House Unit Approves Plan To Half Million

WASHINGTON (AP)— The House Ways and Means Committee decided tentatively Tuesday to extend social security coverage to more than half a million domestic workers, ministers and federal employees who are now excluded.

This was the first congressional action on President Eisenhower's far-reaching proposals to expand coverage and boost social security benefits and taxes.

The committee, taking up the bill by Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-NY) section-by-section, is expected to approve the program pretty much as urged by Eisenhower, although many features are controversial.

The committee deferred action on the President's plan to extend coverage to about 3,600,000 farm operators and 2,200,000 farm laborers. A spokesman said the administration was to supply more information.

The committee didn't reach sections which would bring social security tax and benefit coverage also to about half a million doctors, lawyers and other professional people, and 3,500,000 state and local government employees—although it is generally expected to approve them, too.

Under present law, domestic workers are covered only if they receive $50 from a single employer and work 24 days for him in any three month period. The new proposal removes the requirement as to the number of days and covers all domestic workers who receive $50 a quarter from any one employer.

Ministers Eligible

Officials estimated this would bring about 200,000 domestic workers into the system and would expand coverage for others where only part of their work is covered now.

Another move approved extends coverage to ministers where both the minister and their employers agree to come under the system. Officials said this would make about 200,000 to 250,000 ministers eligible.

Churches would have to waive their federal tax exemption to make the employer's contribution required under the system.

The committee also voted to bring in federal employees in home loan banks, Coast Guard exchanges, and temporary postal workers, and all other federal executive department workers who are not now covered by some federal retirement system.

It agreed to extend coverage also to American citizens employed by American employers on vessels operating under foreign flags.

Clapp Ends His Term As TVA Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gordon R. Clapp ended his term as chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) at the close of business Tuesday without indication from the White House when a successor will be named.

Former President Harry Truman nominated Clapp to the $15,000 a year position in 1946. Clapp has been with TVA in various posts since the giant power agency was created in 1933.

Several persons have been mentioned as possible nominees for Clapp's post, but the White House has given no indication of the likely appointee.

Until Clapp's successor is nominated and confirmed by the Senate, TVA will operate without a chairman and with only two members of its normally three-member board.

Waverly's Rural Fire District OK'd

The Lancaster County Board of Commissioners approved Tuesday the creation of a Waverly Rural Fire Protection District.

The district approved Tuesday was enlarged from the original request to include an area to the west toward Lincoln, where the freeholders are on the Lincoln phone exchange.

The original district included freeholders who objected to the Waverly district who had contributed to the Eagle district and were on the Eagle exchange.

Area included in the revised district is two full sections and parts of four others in the Stevens Creek precinct, and one full and one fractional section in Stevens Creek plus parts of two other Stevens Creek sections in addition to one and a half sections in Lancaster Precinct.

Reds Hit In March To Delta

30,000 Rebels Said Moving From Fortress

By MARVIN STONE

HANOI (INS)—French bombers and fighters hammered Tuesday at a Red-led Vietminh Army of 30,000 men reportedly marching on the Red River Delta, strategic heart of the French war effort in Indo-China.

The French planes pounded troop convoys and artillery moving eastward from Dien Bien Phu toward the delta and heavily-guarded Hanoi, the prize city of northern Vietnam.

The main target of the air assault, the French announced, was route 41, slicing eastward from Dien Bien Phu to Sonla, 70 miles away. Sonla is 130 miles west of Hanoi.

Other planes hammered Vietminh troop concentrations which have been pushing closer to Hanoi and Haiphong, port on the Gulf of Tonkin and vital funnel in the French supply system for its network of bases in the delta.

Decisive Battle

It was the first official acknowledgement by the French that the Vietminh troops, fresh from their victory at Dien Bien Phu, were pushing on the key northeast corner of Indo-China hard by the Red Chinese frontier, for what may be the decisive battle of the more than seven-year-old war.

It came a Gen. Paul Ely, French chiet of staff, reached Saigon from Paris and immediately started a round of conferences with U.S. and military men to determine the extent of the military crisis in Indo-China and help provide the facts for consideration of further aid to the French.

Ely saw Gen. Henri-Eugene Navarre, French commander in Indo-China, and also met with Maj. Gen. John O'Daniel, chief of the U.S. military mission in Indo-China.

The French announced the resumption of air strikes on the Dien Bien Phu-Sonla road began Tuesday morning, for the first time since it had been neutralized by the May 13 agreement at Dien Bien Phu to permit the evacuation of French Union wounded from the fallen fortress.

Eighteen Evacuated

Nineteen more wounded were evacuated from Dien Bien Phu Tuesday, bringing the total to 30.

The French broke off the agreement and decided to resume bombings after the Vietminh began moving troops on the road.

The high command said bombers blasted trucks loaded with troops between Dien Bien Phu and Tuan Giago, 30 miles to the northeast, and a few hours later caught 30 more rebel trucks near Moc Chau, midway between Dien Bien Phu and Hanoi.

Later, still another convoy was strafed a few miles west.

White Cane Drive Nets $1,106 Here

A total of $1,106 was raised in the Lincoln Braille Club's annual White Cane drive. Of this amount $862.54 was raised through street sales in downtown Lincoln and at the Statehouse.

The remainder was raised through drives in University Place and Bethany and private contributions.

The club has a $5,000 mortgage on the building which they recently purchased in University Place. The money raised through the drive will be enough to pay the first installment on the mortgage and for the renovation of the building, Melvin McArtor, club president, said.

This is the largest amount ever raised in the annual drive. The previous high total was a little more than $800.

Groups participating in the campaign included Delta Gamma Sorority, active and alumnae chapters; Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity, active chapter; Bethany and University Place Lions Clubs and Wesleyan University Panhellenic group.

'Harmony' GOP Man Wins Vote

Leader-Wood Face Penn. Primary Fight

PHILADELPHIA (Wednesday) (AP)—Lloyd H. Wood, organization-backed "harmony" candidate, early today won the Pennsylvania Republican gubernatorial nomination in a walkaway. George M. Leader, Democratic state policy committee choice, apparently earned the right to oppose Wood in the November election by holding an early lead into the morning hours.

It was a primary marked by light voting and was a complete victory for both Republican and Democratic organizations.

With 4,268 of 8,589 precincts counted in the Republican gubernatorial primary, Wood had 361,745. His independent opponents were far behind. Thomas S. Stephenson had 77,140 and Gordon F. Chamberlin 25,099.

Reports from 4,291 precincts in the Democratic primary gave Leader 151,772 votes to 86,180 for William D. McClelland and 16,992 for Charles J. Schmitt. McClelland had the backing of some labor leaders.

"No Surprise"

GOP National Committeeman G. Mason Owlett, one of the slatemakers, said he was "well pleased" with the victory of the entire "harmony" ticket.

"It's no surprise to me," he said. "I felt certain they would win."

There appeared to be only a slim chance the GOP slate would be cracked. In the race for three Superior Court spots, Judges Robert E. Woodside, George W. Griffith and Ralph T. Bell were substantially ahead of State Sen. John M. Walker, the strongest of four opposing candidates.

Atty Gen. Frank F. Truscott was rolling up a lead of nearly three to one for the lieutenant governor nomination. The closest fight was for secretary of internal affairs with Mrs. Gaynelle M. Dixon ahead by nearly 3 to 2 over incumbent Secretary William S. Livengood Jr.

More than 4,500 bikes were licensed, he added.

Capt. Hurd said that bicycle licenses can be obtained at police headquarters.

Endorsement Question Will Go To GOP Convention At Fremont

By SALLY ADAMS
Star Staff Writer

The question of endorsement of candidates at the Republican pre-primary convention is under study by the convention's committee on procedure.

They will meet Sunday night or Monday morning to prepare a recommendation on the question to be submitted to the convention Monday morning in Fremont.

"The reaction seems to be all against the endorsing of candidates," W. W. Spear, state Republican chairman, said. "I haven't heard anyone for it."

Spear pointed out that there may be additional filings following the convention which could not be acted upon if the endorsement policy were adopted.

Even if the convention does vote to endorse candidates, the endorsement cannot appear on the ballot according to an act passed by the last Legislature.

Members of the committee on procedure are C. J. Reynolds of Fremont, chairman; M. E. Rasdal of Ogallala, John Jirdon of Morrill, Max Denney of Fairbury and Ted S. Hook of Wayne.

Spear said he still has had no word from Sen. Joseph McCarthy regarding his scheduled address at 8 p.m. Monday. Spear said if the hearings in Washington are reconvened Monday as scheduled, McCarthy probably won't be in Nebraska. However, he said, no other arrangements have been made for a substitute.

The program for the convention, to be held at the City Auditorium in Fremont:

8 to 10 a.m.—Registration.
10 a.m.—Spear to welcome group. Walter S. Witthoff, new chairman of the Dodge County Central Committee, to speak.
10:30 a.m.—Clarence A. Davis, solicitor for the Department of Interior, keynote address. Joseph S. Wishart of Lincoln, state party treasurer, to introduce Davis.
11 a.m.—Report of committee on procedure. If endorsement recommended, convention to vote.
Noon recess.
2 p.m.—Committee reports. Candidates to speak briefly if no endorsement action taken.
Adjournment.
8 p.m.—McCarthy to speak.

Up To 1 Inch Recorded; Some Fields Need Sun

Widely-scattered and highly-variable showers fell over Nebraska Tuesday, putting land in better shape for corn-planting in some areas and setting back planting activity elsewhere.

Although rainfall totals ran around an inch at Grafton and Auburn, most other points through eastern Nebraska received a half inch or less. The showers fell so unevenly that Sutton, about eight miles from Grafton received no rain. Crete had only .08 while Lincoln had .44.

The showers were reported as far west as Imperial where .30 rain and some light pea-sized hail fell. A weather observer there said he doubted if the light hail would cause damage to crops.

The rainfall totals in Lancaster County varied around the hilf-inch mark, with points in the northern side of the county getting more than .60.

While the rain was welcome in most places, there was a note of complaint from Humboldt where one resident observed, "We already have all the rain we need here, what we need is some clear weather to let the farmers get into the fields."

Forecasters predicted that the rain would continue Wednesday. Scattered showers or thunderstorms were foreseen for the west late Wednesday afternoon, spreading to the central portion Wednesday night.

Maximum temperatures Wednesday should register near 70 in the extreme east to 80 in the Panhandle.

High School Tax Levies Down, But Average Up

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

High school district tax levies for the year 1953-54 are slightly lower than in 1952-53, the office of State Superintendent F. B. Decker said Tuesday. However, when all of the 6,113 districts, including elementary schools, are considered the average levy increased from 8.83 mills last year to 9.14 mills.

The Class I districts (elementary) showed an average increase from 7.48 to 7.94 mills. The number of these districts decreased from 5,871 to 5,637 during the year. Levies ran the gamut from nothing in 314 districts to a high of 50.50 mills.

Last year there were 340 districts with no levies and the highest levy was 88 mills in Dist. 52 in Brown County. This year the Brown County district to 23.3 mills.

Class 2 schools; those having both elementary and high school and a population of 1,000 or less, have an average levy of 25.23 mills as compared with 25.93 mills last year. Brownsville has the highest, 60.75 mills, and the lowest is 2.35. There are 307 districts of this size.

The 136 Class 3 districts, having a population of 1,000 to 50,000, showed a drop in average levies from 26.74 to 22.74 mills. The levies range from 7 to 37.40 mills.

Class 4 or the Lincoln district showed a decline from 24 to 22.67 mills and Class 5, Omaha district, dropped from 15.3 to 13 mills. Class 6, county and rural high school districts, showed an increase from 8.38 to 8.66 mills. There are 31 in the state.

The increase in rural levies and decrease in urban levies caused department members to speculate that valuations in urban areas had been increased more than the rural area.

The average levy for general school purposes in the 476 high school districts was 23.39 mills as compared with an average of 25 mills last year.

The total of 6,113 districts of the state as compared with 6,360 last year indicates that the consolidation program is making headway. The Class I districts with no mill levy in many instances are using up surpluses preparatory to consolidation, the reports indicated.

Jelke Is Granted Retrial

Appeals Court Hits Lockout Of Newsmen

NEW YORK (AP)—Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke's vice conviction was upset Tuesday in one of New York's most far-reaching decisions of the century bearing on freedom of the press. A new trial was ordered.

Jelke

The Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court in a 3-2 decision flatly rebuked trial Judge Francis L. Valente for barring press and public during the State's case against the 24-year-old oleomargarine heir. His action was termed "unorthodox . . . unwarranted."

"We conceive it to be no part of the work of the judiciary," the Appeals Court said, "upon the facts here presented to decide what a newspaper prints or to what portion of the people it caters to sell its papers."

The court added that Valente's ban denied Jelke a "fair and impartial trial. It did not rule directly on the issue of press freedom. But its decision was a strong, new bulwark for the state's newspapers.

Question of Law

The majority opinion said, in effect, that the jury justly convicted Jelke of cafe society pandering, but that Valente bungled the case. The ruling was on a question of law, rather than fact.

Jelke was sentenced March 27, 1953, to three to six years in prison as a cafe society procurer of young women who peddled their charms for as much as $500 a night.

He had been convicted one month earlier on a charge of compulsory prostitution after one of the most sensational trials New York had seen in years.

He also was sentenced to eight months in the city's workhouse on charges of illegal possession of guns. He was freed last Oct. 6.

He has been free on bail pending his appeal in the vice case.

George W. Herz, Jelke's attorney, issued a statement calling the reversal a great victory and added:

"It is an assurance to us that our courts will not permit our constitutional liberty to be frittered away . . .

"Perhaps this decision will serve to curb the increasing tendency by some public officials to ignore the rightful public interest in matters and cases involving their offices."

Herz said Jelke now works as a mate on a charter fishing boat in Miami, Fla.

Balloon, Tall As An 18-Story Building, Goes Aloft 22 Miles

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A giant plastic balloon, nearly as tall as an 18-story office building, soared more than 22 miles into the sky Tuesday—higher than ever before for a balloon of its type.

The "Super Skyhook," which stretched to about the length of a football field before its inflation, bore a cargo of scientific instruments to study mysteries of the upper atmosphere.

The balloon was made for the Office of Naval Research (ONR) by General Mills, Inc., and was the largest of some 1,200 plastic balloons which have been launched since 1947.

The "Super Skyhook" was made of transparent polyethylene film, about half the thickness of a human hair. Stretched flat, it would have covered three acres. Fully inflated it was 200 feet in diameter.

The big bag of helium was set free at 4:51 a.m. (CST) from the University of Minnesota Airport and remained within a radius of about 80 miles of Minneapolis. At about 3 p.m., several hours earlier than had been previously announced, an automatic device released the 50-pound "pay load" of instruments and ripped the balloon to drift to earth near Faribault, Minn.

The balloon reached a final altitude of between 117,000 and 122,000 feet. The exact height will not be known until the instruments are studied. Radio signals which varied with the changing atmosphere gave ground observers altitude information.

The instruments were attached to a 30-foot, green parachute.

The instruments were to record cosmic rays, weather data and other information. Radio signals carried down some of the material.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Sydney Gruson, New York Times correspondent expelled from Guatemala last January, said he had been granted a new visa for the Central American republic and plans to return there Wednesday.

Briton Shoots 3

LONDON (AP) — A crazed former soldier, gunning for fancied enemies, shot three men in London's East End Tuesday, one fatally. Then he killed himself as police closed in on a taxicab in which he tried to make a getaway.

One victim, William Gibbons, a workman, died in a hospital several hours after the shootings. The gun wielder, a former Irish Guardsman identified as Nathan Goldberg, 27, plunged into the taxi in a crowded theater district in an attempt to escape from a trained dog loosed by pursuing police.

Cross Burned

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A cross, apparently a symbol of resentment to the U.S. Supreme Court's segregation ruling, was attached to the front of city school superintendent John M. Ridgway's home and burned Tuesday night.

3 Pen Inmates Still At Large

Three State Penitentiary inmates who escaped early Tuesday by walking off their jobs with a dairy barn detail are reported still at large.

The trio, all wearing white trousers or overalls and blue shirts, were identified by prison authorities as Robert E. Hall, 7615 Leighton, Lincoln; James L. Reed Jr.; and Dennis Webb.

Hall, 23, was sentenced to serve a one-to-three year term in the State Reformatory on a burglary charge. He was sentenced July 31, 1950, from Lancaster County.

While on a work detail in Grand Island, Hall was charged with breaking and entering. He was transferred to the penitentiary on July 20, 1951, to serve a three year sentence on the second offense. After the term expired Nov. 1, 1953, he began serving the remainder of the first sentence.

James Reed Jr., 25, of Jennings, Kan., is serving an 18 month sentence on a no-found check charge. He was sentenced from Nemaha County on Jan. 5, 1954.

Dennis Webb, 21, of Henry, Neb., was sentenced in Scotts Bluff County on Dec 23, 1953, to serve two years on a charge of fraud under false pretenses.

Oil Mat Paving Project OK'd By Commissioners

An oil mat paving project was given approval by the County Board of Commissioners Tuesday for paving of No. 14th from the present paving line to Arbor Rd. two and a half miles north.

Mystery Man Still Missing In Killer Hunt

OMAHA (AP)—The "man in the brown suit" remained a missing link Tuesday in the search for the slayer of Carl Yelinek, 62-year-old Omaha grocer.

However, one lead on the man faded. Officers said Tuesday they had expected to find that a visitor, who witnesses said was in the store minutes before the slaying, was the man in the brown suit.

They had been told the description of the man in brown was identical with that of a man who had been feuding with Yelinek for several months.

Three Bullets

This was not true, Sarpy County Sheriff Ernest Arp said.

Arp said results of an autopsy performed at the University of Nebraska hospital showed Yelinek had been hit by three bullets from a .22 caliber gun.

Two bullets struck him in the head and one in the chest, Arp said. He said that a small caliber gun Yelinek is known to have owned has not been found and that he may have been slain with that weapon.

The finding of money in a drawer in the grocery store still points to a revenge shooting rather than one of robbery, Arp said.

The shooting was discovered Sunday evening when a woman customer found a pool of blood in a room immediately behind the store section. The body was nearby.

Jelke Is Granted Retrial

Appeals Court Hits Lockout Of Newsmen

NEW YORK (AP)—Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke's vice conviction was upset Tuesday in one of New York's most far-reaching decisions of the century bearing on freedom of the press. A new trial was ordered.

Jelke

The Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court in a 3-2 decision flatly rebuked trial Judge Francis L. Valente for barring press and public during the State's case against the 24-year-old oleomargarine heir. His action was termed "unorthodox . . . unwarranted."

"We conceive it to be no part of the work of the judiciary," the Appeals Court said, "upon the facts here presented to decide what a newspaper prints or to what portion of the people it caters to sell its papers."

The court added that Valente's ban denied Jelke a "fair and impartial trial. It did not rule directly on the issue of press freedom. But its decision was a strong, new bulwark for the state's newspapers.

Question of Law

The majority opinion said, in effect, that the jury justly convicted Jelke of cafe society pandering, but that Valente bungled the case. The ruling was on a question of law, rather than fact.

Jelke was sentenced March 27, 1953, to three to six years in prison as a cafe society procurer of young women who peddled their charms for as much as $500 a night.

He had been convicted one month earlier on a charge of compulsory prostitution after one of the most sensational trials New York had seen in years.

He also was sentenced to eight months in the city's workhouse on charges of illegal possession of guns. He was freed last Oct. 6.

He has been free on bail pending his appeal in the vice case.

George W. Herz, Jelke's attorney, issued a statement calling the reversal a great victory and added:

"It is an assurance to us that our courts will not permit our constitutional liberty to be frittered away . . .

"Perhaps this decision will serve to curb the increasing tendency by some public officials to ignore the rightful public interest in matters and cases involving their offices."

Herz said Jelke now works as a mate on a charter fishing boat in Miami, Fla.

Balloon, Tall As An 18-Story Building, Goes Aloft 22 Miles

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A giant plastic balloon, nearly as tall as an 18-story office building, soared more than 22 miles into the sky Tuesday—higher than ever before for a balloon of its type.

The "Super Skyhook," which stretched to about the length of a football field before its inflation, bore a cargo of scientific instruments to study mysteries of the upper atmosphere.

The balloon was made for the Office of Naval Research (ONR) by General Mills, Inc., and was the largest of some 1,200 plastic balloons which have been launched since 1947.

The "Super Skyhook" was made of transparent polyethylene film, about half the thickness of a human hair. Stretched flat, it would have covered three acres. Fully inflated it was 200 feet in diameter.

The big bag of helium was set free at 4:51 a.m. (CST) from the University of Minnesota Airport and remained within a radius of about 80 miles of Minneapolis. At about 3 p.m., several hours earlier than had been previously announced, an automatic device released the 50-pound "pay load" of instruments and ripped the balloon to drift to earth near Faribault, Minn.

The balloon reached a final altitude of between 117,000 and 122,000 feet. The exact height will not be known until the instruments are studied. Radio signals which varied with the changing atmosphere gave ground observers altitude information.

The instruments were attached to a 30-foot, green parachute.

The instruments were to record cosmic rays, weather data and other information. Radio signals carried down some of the material.

East, West Fail Again On Indo-China

France, U.S. Pact Planning Said Okayed

GENEVA (AP)—East and West wrangled in secret for another three hours Tuesday but failed to break the deadlock in their negotiations for peace in Indo-China.

An official screen of secrecy covered the talks, but a conference source said no progress on the major issues separating Western and Communist viewpoints had been made.

The dispute inside the conference room spread outside where French and Vietminh spokesmen, in separate news conferences, voiced recriminations about the breakdown of the arrangement for evacuating wounded from the fallen fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

The nine delegation engaged in the difficult negotiations—the Big Four, Red China, the three Associated states of Indo-China and the Vietminh—agreed to meet again Wednesday in secret. But the protracted bargaining gave little promise of peace in Indo-China.

Plan for Defense Pact

A French cource said France and the United States have agreed to plan a southeast Asia defense pact without waiting either for British approval or for the end of the Geneva conference.

The source, close to French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, said secret talks between French and American diplomats have been in progress in Washington, Paris and Geneva in the last few days and would continue irrespective of the progress of the Geneva conference.

The British view is that negotiations for an anti-Communist pact in southeast Asia should await the outcome of the Geneva conference.

The French feel the Communists may try to stall the conference in endless debate in order to give the Communist-led Vietminh rebels in Indo-China time to build up their strength in the vital Red River Delta for a full scale assault on Hanoi.

Council OKs Purchase Of Street Paint Striper

The police department traffic division has been authorized by the City Council to purchase a new mechanical traffic paint street striper.

Cost of the new equipment is estimated at about $500. Need for the machine was explained by Welfare and Safety Director Emmett Junge as the result of increased double lane streets which require marking.

The machine is expected to bring considerable saving, he said, in both paint and manpower.

Complaints Against Evaluation Hikes Continue To Pour In

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

Complaints piled up Tuesday before the County Board of Equalization as close to 400 county citizens trooped to the courthouse questioning increases they received in real estate evaluation.

So far, nearly 50 complainants were scheduled for hearing by the board, made up of the county commissioners, with Chris Kuhner sitting as chairman. The board by law is scheduled to meet from three to 40 days until all complaints have been heard.

Re-appraisal of county real estate was completed last year by E. T. Wilkins & Associates who based their adjustments on a scientific method. This, they said, hinges around types of construction, total area, condition and age of construction, certain types of improvements, depreciation, use of property, and value of lots. With farm lands, soil types and the erosion factors are taken into consideration.

Fred Herrington, general manager for Wilkins, said late Tuesday several of the complaints had come from an area in southwest Lincoln, which is subject to floods during high waters on Salt Creek.

Other than this concentration, though, Herrington pointed out, there has been no specific section of the city that is represented more than any other. Property owners in all types of classifications, including downtown businesses, have been raised or decreased in their property evaluations according to reappraisal factors used.

Representatives of the Wilkins firm have set up headquarters in the basement of the courthouse where initial complaints are heard and the reappraisal system explained. Only a small minority of those meeting with the Wilkins men, however, continue their complaints to the Board of Equalization for possible adjustment.

Herrington said there had as yet been no pattern set by the complaints, as usually happens. He explained that the majority of those coming to the courthouse are seeking mostly information on why certain adjustments were made in their property valuation.

In the past, Herrington said, the ratio of readjustment has shown that 20 per cent of the valuations have been increased, 20 per cent remained the same, and some 60 per cent have decreased. He added that previous assessment schedules, such as last year's, were invalid because a complete reappraisal had been set up to equalize real estate property.

Close to 50,000 assessment notices were sent out in the county and should have been received Tuesday by property owners.

Carmody's Proposal

Gov. Bob Crosby is taking his time in deciding on the course of action he should adopt with reference to a proposal by Sen. Art Carmody.

Before the special session of the Nebraska Unicameral adjourned, Sen. Carmody had suggested to the governor that an investigation of the affairs of the Nebraska penitentiary be made by a group of private citizens of the state, a group to be named by the governor. The suggestion by Mr. Carmody came after a series of incidents which have covered more than a year and which were climaxed by the murder of a prison guard on Good Friday.

There is no pressing emergency, it will be granted, at least on the surface. Warden Hann has indicated that he welcomes an investigation of prison administration, but instead of turning it over to a group of outstanding citizens, the warden apparently feels that the services of men familiar with prison management, meaning "experts," are needed. It is our own notion that Sen. Carmody's idea is better. We have nothing against the so-called "expert," but surely there are numbers of men in this state fully competent to conduct an investigation and in a position to contribute their time and energy without compensation in unselfish public service. If they should feel the need for expert advice, they could call for it.

In general sense, Nebraska has made great progress in the last 40 years towards improved prison methods, particularly when it comes to an improved physical plant and common-sense, humane consideration in the everyday life that goes on behind prison walls.

The governor is a busy man, but he ought to make up his mind what he is going to do about Sen. Carmody's proposal.

Failure At Geneva?

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Nowhere have I seen a more devastating attack upon American foreign policy than the criticism voiced by Joseph C. Harsch, chief of the Washington staff of the Christian Science Monitor.

It is not the criticism of an unfriendly newspaper. Through thick and thin, sometimes seemingly in goggle-eyed veneration, the Monitor has followed where Dulles and President Eisenhower have led. But it is a most thoughtful presentation which Mr. Harsch makes with reference to developments in Europe and Asia.

"The total power of a great nation to influence the course of world events does not depend upon weapons alone," he writes, "a fact overlooked too often by statesmen even though the pages of history are strewn with the wreckage of armies and nations which went down to defeat at the hands of opponents less well and plentifully equipped with modern arms. The United States went into the Indo-China crisis still the best-armed nation in the world. It possessed more and bigger atomic weapons; more and bigger and more varied ships and planes, guns and motor vehicles, range-finders and homing devices than any other nation on earth."

Blunder Upon Blunder

What happened? Why have we been at odds with certain of our allies? Why have we been drifting more and more away from the western defense community, with their peoples apparently suspicious of us? Why is it that they no longer wait for our words eagerly and with full confidence that what we say represents the course of wisdom?

Despite our repeated warnings to Communist China through January, February and March to stand clear of Indo-China, Harsch says, the Chinese Communists coolly proceeded to project their military power into Indo-China, in the end called America's hand. ". . . Washington failed to mobilize the western alliance to make good on its warnings. The event exposed an erosion of power which could be exercised from Washington. It is difficult to assess the true relative power of a nation at any one time. It is impossible to assign an erosion of power to any one single factor. But the contributory causes to the decline of American prestige (or power) are not difficult to outline."

We talked big. We spoke of massive retaliation. We were blustery, with provocation, but blustery without any intention of carrying through. We had neglected the machinery of the western alliance. "The vital interests of Britain and France, the principal allies, were underestimated or miscalculated."

Crisis And Transition

In this vital period of crisis and transition, Harsch writes, "American reliance had been transferred too heavily to atomic weapons. They had seemed to be sufficient answer to the problems of American interests in the world. The American military position was being regeared to atomic weapons, partly in the interest of economy at home. When the test came, atomic weapons proved to be unusable in Indo-China. . . . They were of no deterrent value, they simply did not deter."

Harsch insists that "too much attention was paid to Moscow, too little to Peking — too much relaxation had been granted to the American people and Congress by an almost-pledge that Korea was the last place where American ground troops would ever be used on the Asiatic mainland—and too much had been contributed to relaxation by talk of possessing 'the initiative' by the implications of budget cuts and by domestic preoccupation with Communist dangers at home. . . . The issue of Communism at home blurred and obscured the dangers overseas."

Making It Too Simple

But what has hurt most of all has been a disposition in Washington, starting with the campaign of 1952, to make the job much more simple than it really is.

"It is difficult to avoid a further conclusion, although it cannot be proved," Harsch wrote, "that the Eisenhower administration was lulled into a false sense of security by its own talk of holding 'the initiative,' its 'new look' and its old pre-inauguration assumption that most American troubles derived from the incompetence of the Democrats."

Harsch concludes with these words:

"The first real foreign policy crisis of the Eisenhower administration caught it with an overestimate of its own strength and an underestimate of the opponents' capacity. It could no more rally the alliance than the Congress . . . Washington was caught with a commitment in excess of its resources. It had to recognize the condition and start rebuilding the eroded power of the United States."

There in sympathetic, understanding spirit are the high points of the American story of the last 12 months in the field of foreign policy.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

It was an old "granddad" which Gordon Gelster of Brady hauled from the waters of the irrigation canal chain south of his home community early this spring. Weight, 13 pounds and five ounces, any walleye this size must have survived a hundred underwater battles to do pretty well by himself.

★

Nebraska Recreation Opportunities

It's a long cry from pioneer days and centennial thoughts when the news columns tell of a walleye catch equalling that of Gelster's. Fact is, walleyes rarely grow that big. Gelster's catch set a state record. And something to talk about was the haul of a 13-year-old Wauneta lad, Lloyd Wade, who had the good luck to tie into a northern pike weighing just under 20 pounds. Wade's catch was at the Sutherland Reservoir. These man-made lakes on Nebraska streams, including the Platte, the Republican and others, are paying off in a big way—first, in opening the doors to expanding irrigation through storage of vast amounts of water; next, facilitating the generation of cheap electricity; and third, but not to be sneezed at, in providing recreational opportunities unknown to Nebraskans until their lakes and irrigation canals were built. Coupled with measures of flood control and other benefits, a new era started in Nebraska in a period of greatest uncertainty, the unforgettable 'thirties.' And Nebraskans will continue to collect rich dividends from these developments for the next hundred years.

★

When Nebraskans reached deep into their pockets to build a new state capitol, starting in the 'twenties, it was with the thought that the new building would provide adequate office facilities for 50 years, and on the more optimistic side, for all time. It was a magnificent undertaking and from out of it came one of the 10 outstanding buildings in the world.

Reflections Of The American Scene

A gay, uninhibited people pushing constantly towards higher goals, little realize one phase of American life. Where is there the imagination to visualize what the United States will be 25 years from now, or any section of this big irrepressible country? Former Gov. Sam McKelvie broke ground for the new capitol building on April 15, 1922 in appropriate ceremonies. Ten years later—in 1932—Goodhue's masterpiece was completed and dedicatory ceremonies held. The feeling then, and understandably so after the expenditure of $10 million, was that Nebraskans had taken care of the office space requiremnets of Nebraska state government for a half century or more. Now, in these gorgeous spring days of May, 1954, the word goes out that all the facilities of a huge, artistically beautiful building, rising high in the sky, are occupied and from now on additional room will come the hard way. There is a measure of the services which people expect of their government. There, also, is the tapeline to notch the stature of growing maturity. Finally, there could be an invitation to thoughtful consideration of 14 years of unbroken rule by one political party.

★

One of America's immortals — one of her greatest of great men—Thomas Jefferson—author of the Declaration of Independence and moving factor in the purchase of Louisiana Territory from out of which was carved Nebraska and several other states—was guilty of astigmatism in viewing the future after he had completed his real estate deal with France. In exultation in his second inaugural address, Jefferson told his critics. . . . "Now we have acquired adequate land for the next thousand years." . . . If he was speaking in terms of settlement, he was entirely wrong. . . . He had no idea whatsoever of America's capacity to consume. . . . If he was thinking in terms of a rich, powerful nation, exercising a great influence in world affairs, then that will depend on the road which each generation of Americans may choose.

DREW PEARSON

Investigator Of Joe Thinks Senate Lax

WASHINGTON—Sen. Hendrickson of New Jersey, Republican, made a speech on the Senate floor the other day which did not get too much attention in the press, but which did get a lot of attention among his colleagues. What he said was that when he viewed the McCarthy-Army hearings and certain Senate "investigative" tactics, "the public good might be served if the Senate could find a hole into which all its members could crawl."

It happens that Sen. Hendrickson is in an excellent position to talk about the McCarthy investigation. Because for two years he sat on an investigating committee which patiently and painstakingly sifted evidence regarding McCarthy himself, his bank records, his concealed speculating activities, the money he received to fight Communism, the way he used some of that money for his own personal gain.

In the end Hendrickson wrote the most damning report ever produced on a fellow senator, only to have it gather dust in the files of Attorney General Brownell.

So it can be understood why Hendrickson feels like crawling into a hole when he now sees the kid-glove treatment, the careful consideration and gracious courtesy given to this same senator he investigated.

* * *

The McCarthy report which Sen. Hendrickson helped write two years ago was not well publicized in the press at the time. And shortly after McCarthy's friend, Sen. Jenner of Indiana, became head of the Rules Committee with jurisdiction over the government printing office, it became impossible to buy copies of the dynamite-laden report. They simply disappeared. The government printing office will tell you they are out of stock, and a copy at a second-hand bookstore is worth a small fortune.

However, I happen to have one of the first copies printed, and from it are taken the following interesting highlights of Joseph R. McCarthy's strange financial tangle:

Prior to McCarthy's campaign against Communism, he was in constant hot water with his bank, the First National Bank of Appleton, Wis. At one time in 1946 he owed the bank $170,029.03. Though this had been reduced by varying amounts, the Senate committee's investigation showed that McCarthy's financial problems vanished after he started his campaign against Communism.

The Senate committee also raised doubts as to whether money given him to fight Communism was not used for the senator's own pocketbook interest instead.

The report showed, for instance, that McCarthy's bank deposits at the Riggs National Bank where he banked in Washington, together with the deposits of his assistant, Ray Kiermas, "increased contemporaneously with the advent of McCarthy's 'fight' to expose Communists."

* * *

JOE'S DEPOSITS ZOOM

In four years, 1948-1952, the committee reported, McCarthy deposited $172,623.18 in the Riggs Bank, while Assistant Ray Kiermas deposited $96,921.26. During this same period, McCarthy's Senate salary was only $50,000.

Of this $172,623.18, the Senate noted, $19,000 of McCarthy's deposits were in cash, while $59,592.52 were from "unidentified sources." During the same period, the cash deposits of Ray Kiermas totaled $29,230, most of which was in amounts over $300.

The Senate committee went to a lot of work to track down part of this money. It found that some of it came from people who said they didn't care how McCarthy spent it, but much came from people who definitely expected him to spend their money to fight Communism.

Frank Porter, president of the Fain-Porter Drilling Co., of Oklahoma City, was one who told Senate investigators he placed "no strings" on the $500 he gave McCarthy.

On the other hand, Craig Sheaffer, president of Sheaffer Pens, who later served as Eisenhower's assistant secretary of Commerce and resigned after the Dr. Astin-Bureau of Standards row, gave $1,000 because of McCarthy's "fight against Communism." Various other givers attached the same strings, causing the Senate committee to comment: "The money should have been deposited as a trust fund."

But the contrary happened. Instead, the committee found, there was "no connection between many of the disbursements from this account and any possible anti-Communist campaign."

Specifically McCarthy used this fund given him by the public to pay $73.80 on his own income taxes; $1,300 to give Ray Kiermas when his bank account was low; another check for $200 when another bank account was overdrawn; and $500 to speculate on the soybean market.

* * *

SOYBEANS VS. COMMUNISM

The soybean speculation was one of the most brazen uses of anti-Communist funds cited by the Senate committee. The money used by McCarthy to attempt to enrich his own pocket included $500 taken from his "general" bank account into which anti-Communist money had been deposited; plus $7,000 and $3,000 loaned him by Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bentley.

Mr. Bentley, now congressman from Michigan, badly wounded by a Puerto Rican, told committee investigators his money was advanced for the purpose of fighting Communism, and he would be disappointed if McCarthy "had used it for gambling or to advance his personal financial condition."

MARQUIS CHILDS

Russia In Move To Isolate America

GENEVA—A month ago Secretary of State John Foster Dulles made his sudden dramatic trip to London and Paris to propose a Southeast Asia defense pact. He believed at the end of that four-day intensive series of consultations that he had gained assent from America's principal allies to go ahead and lay the groundwork as rapidly as possible for an agreement that would call into being defense forces in the same pattern as the North Atlantic treaty organization.

A series of disillusionments has followed, and it is important to try to appraise the American position in the light of what has happened in a period that has seemed at times to bring the Western Alliance close to the breaking point. Dulles' motive was to build a position of strength for bargaining purposes at Geneva.

It is impossible to predict what the American position will be a month from now, but with good luck the strenuous efforts being put forward in a half-dozen capitals will have borne fruit and the framework of a defense pact will be in place. At the very least this will make it possible to draw a defense line for Southeast Asia and put the Communists on notice that crossing the line means war.

Again with good luck, and it will have to be very good luck indeed, a part of Indo-China would be included within this defense perimeter and the three associated states, their independence assured under a respectable armistice reached at Geneva, would be members of the pact. This kind of luck depends on the capacity of the Laniel government, which has just had a squeak escape from extinction, to carry out measures to strengthen the French position.

The British are still saying they will not agree to any sort of pact, either political or military, until further exploration here shows whether peace can be reached by negotiation. And the Americans are nevertheless going ahead to recruit support with or without the British.

If the worst should happen in the next month, then the position of the United States and the free world will be gravely imperilled. The Communist conquest of Indo-China will have advanced to the stage at which a desperate appeal to save French lives will be the final cry. Already, according to reports from Washington, the French government has asked how America would respond to such an appeal. From Hanoi come reports that Communist irregular battalions are taking to the field with equipment and apparently, according to long prearranged plans, much faster than had been anticipated.

Under such circumstances wavering Asian nations could hardly be expected to lend their support to a defensive pact. British left-wing opposition would be even more adamant than it has been in the recent past.

Knowledgeable sources believe the Communists have a carefully worked out plan for just this situation. They would push forward their own so-called security pact for Europe, with a similar pact for Asia thrown in. Along with this would go an offer to France to quit the war on terms that would save human life, and accompanying this offer would be a powerful propaganda plea to line up on the Soviet side.

Already hints of this have come. The Russian request to join NATO was more, it is believed, than just a propaganda gesture. At the right moment Moscow can point to that request which was turned down and cite it as proof that Communism did actually want to become part of a European security system. So now, as the propaganda line will have it, the time has come to form a system without the United States.

* * *

If this seems a long and ominous look into the future it must never be forgotten that Communism plays not for next year or the next election but for 50 years and 100 years hence. American officials trying to look realistically at this grim moment of pause believe the Russians are in fact driving for a diplomatic political showdown that would result in forcing America back into isolation.

The little brown men throwing themselves in fanatical waves against French strongpoints in the jungle 10,000 miles away are pawns on this vast and terrifying chess board. So are the neutralists and those who live in tragic and quite understandable dread of another war with weapons of immeasurable force. There is no use disguising the fact that today in this struggle America is at a great disadvantage. To falter, to fall apart in further disunity would be to let the game go by default.

AS OTHERS SEE IT

The Berlin Pact Pattern

Editor's Note: The Manchester (England) Guardian editorially sees a possible kinship in the earlier dealings that brought calm to Berlin and those issues which today plague the world in Southeast Asia. Over Berlin the Reds and the West each gave ground. They agreed to disagree peaceably. This tack might avert further bloodshed in Indo-China—an armistice to permit time and peaceable methods to come into play.

★

The best to be expected of the Geneva conference is that it will conclude with the kind of calm achieved at Berlin.

The Berlin conference did not agree to unite Germany but did succeed in lowering tension in Europe. It ended without bitterness, polemics, or threats on either side. The Geneva conference may yet achieve a similar result in Asia—if both sides try. The conference is most unlikely to succeed in reuniting Korea and equally unlikely to reach a political settlement for Indo-China, but it could still produce agreement to disagree unbelligerently about Korea and could still bring an armistice for Indo-China.

Of course, the attitude of China has not been wholly disclosed, and Mr. Chou En-lai may yet prove to be in a more vicious mood than Mr. Molotov was at Berlin. In that event nothing will be gained.

There have also, of course, been unhappy rifts between Mr. Dulles and the other Western delegations at Geneva, although none that could not be repaired quite quickly. The Western ministers, at any rate, ought to do their best both to restore their own unity and to achieve an ending of the conference at least as favorable as Berlin's.

President Eisenhower pointed the way for them at his press conference (perhaps too plainly for Mr. Dulles' comfort). He said that a course should be steered between two extremes. It was unacceptable to have the anti-Communist defenses in Asia crumble and disappear, and a completely satisfactory settlement with the Communist world seemed unattainable.

In these circumstances, he said, it seemed best to seek a practical basis for getting along with the Communists. We had done that in Europe since the Berlin blockade and we should do it in the Far East, including Indo-China. His advice is good (even if it does represent second thoughts caused by the American public's distaste for sending Americans to Indo-China). It should be heeded.

What should be the "practical basis for getting along"? In Korea there appears now to be only one possibility—to accept the present division of the country as something that will last a number of years.

The Communists will not abandon at the conference table what they won in war, nor will the United Nations side. The Chinese will not abandon North Korea as a buffer protecting Manchuria, nor will the North Korean Communists abandon control of the territory they hold. To suppose otherwise would be sheer fantasy.

The alternative is simply to agree with the Communists to disagree peacefully—in other words, to let Korea remain divided, with the safety of the North guaranteed by China and the safety of the South guaranteed by U.N.

Indo - China the situation is not so straightforward. The immediate need is an armistice. That would end the fighting, give the two sides time to cool down and prevent the ruin of the country. An armistice, obviously, would have to be be based on military realities. It could be achieved if both sides want it.

An armistice should not be confused with a political settlement, which would be almost impossible to attain, Bao Dai and Ho Chi Minh are each entitled to their ideas on independence. Let each government work out its ideas on its own territory.

These decisions, then, could be the "practical basis for getting along." Korea would remain divided but less tensely so, and the Indo-Chinese war would be ended by an armistice although not with a political agreement.

There is no denying, of course, that some people in the United States and in France would resist such a settlement. Equally, it is more than possible that China's ambitions in Southeast Asia may be such that she does not want tranquility. We do not know.

* * *

The Western ministers at Geneva ought, nevertheless, to try for a settlement in some such form. In America it would have to be understood that stabilization of the present situatiion is neither dishonorable nor as dangerous as an attempt to force China into withdrawal by threats (especially when the United States, as much as Britain, is unready to carry out those threats by committing her troops in the Far East).

In America it would also have to be understood that any policy in Asia must gain the support of the major governments in Asia. The words of the Colombo communique by the Prime Ministers of India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Burma and Indonesia ought to be heard above the voices of men like Syngman Rhee, Chiang Kai-shek and Bao Dai.

In France it ought to be realized that no satisfactory settlement for Indo-China is conceivable unless the Associated States are granted the right to complete independence if they wish it. But with an understanding of these things, an easing of tension in Asia may be achieved at Geneva.

No Avalanche

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Up to the present date, the expected avalanche of replies seeking the services of Mr. Sodium Sil F., as per his recent offer, has not materialized. This is somewhat disappointing, and we are at a loss to account for it.

If this lack of interest is caused by the lack of references given, the gentleman is prepared to offer the best. His twin brother has had a wide working acquaintance with the people of Lincoln for years, and will gladly vouch for him.

The Relatives

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Mr. Allen's distinction between realities and the supernatural (The Star, May 14) itself unrealistically overlooks major historical facts.

Dealing in realities, we find faithfully recorded in the New Testament the historical fact that "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son" for our redemption. The factual accuracy is attested by the deaths of the apostles and disciples of the Saviour, plus the vast throng of their contemporaries, and those who followed. A few crackpots and fanatics might endure torture and death for a lie or an uncertain cause, but would so many thousands?

Reality tells us that for several centuries, the "supernatural something" was the only bulwark between European civilization and the ignorant savagery of the Hun, Mongolian and Turkish hordes of Asia.

Reality also tells us that the ages of "signs and omens, and hobgoblins" (as extant today as they ever were) produced some of the world's greatest culture—plus discoveries and knowledge accumulation without which our present advance would be impossible. For every Thomas Edison or Luther Burbank who allegedly solved his problems "rationally," we can cite a Pasteur, Columbus, Michaelangelo, a Duns Scotus, or a Constantine The Great, who contributed much to the world's store of knowledge and glory, and who lived very closely with that "supernatural something out of a dim past."

No, let us not forget the realities. To do so might result in our own spiritual ruin.

Laborer's View

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I believe that a laboring man's view should be heard on the following subject.

People of Lincoln, watch out. Your tax money is going to be used to subsidize the downtown businessman. It is only natural with all the members of our present City Council representing business that they should try to keep all business downtown. We do not now need to keep all business in the one area. It has been proved to us in the last few years that our outlying business areas can relieve some of the congestion in the one business area. If the businessmen want to monopolize the business, let them furnish their own parking. If off-street parking is provided by the city in our downtown area, then we should also furnish the same for Bethany, University Place, Havelock, College View, etc. — and we certainly cannot afford that. Keeping all of our business in one small area is the one way to keep our city in its present one-horse status. The real estate men are undoubtedly in on this, too. Their commission would come in the sale of the buildings and purchase of land by the city. If this one comes up on the ballot, I urge every working man to vote it down.

It is time that working people speak up and let the so-called leaders of the city know that we expect to be represented as equals with the businessman. Laborers, note — you have no one representing you on the present Council, nor have you had for some years. Make yourself known.

'Freedom For All'

Curtis, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Before we get too deeply involved in the affairs of southeast Asia, we had better consider the reasons for the Communists' advances. First we are told that that territory is rich in natural resources, and then we are told that hunger is the common lot of man. The wealth is largely in the hands of exploiters and the governments do not give the hungry hope. Along come the Communists with many promises and a little action, and the hungry people follow fanatically. "Asia For Asiatics" is an effective slogan.

We might be more popular if we had a few slogans like "Freedom For All," and "No Friend of America Goes Hungry," and we could impress with good intentions. Neither should we be too considerate to show that Communism is the most unreasonable, the most wicked, and the cruelest form imaginable and hard to destroy.

The condition looks serious for us but we should not fight. The exploiters are being punished because they have allowed the many to be hungry while they became rich. For that reason the masses of Asia would turn against us if we try to check Communism there. The time has come when any government is weakened that allows the few to exploit the many.

Carmody's Proposal

Gov. Bob Crosby is taking his time in deciding on the course of action he should adopt with reference to a proposal by Sen. Art Carmody.

Before the special session of the Nebraska Unicameral adjourned, Sen. Carmody had suggested to the governor that an investigation of the affairs of the Nebraska penitentiary be made by a group of private citizens of the state, a group to be named by the governor. The suggestion by Mr. Carmody came after a series of incidents which have covered more than a year and which were climaxed by the murder of a prison guard on Good Friday.

There is no pressing emergency, it will be granted, at least on the surface. Warden Hann has indicated that he welcomes an investigation of prison administration, but instead of turning it over to a group of outstanding citizens, the warden apparently feels that the services of men familiar with prison management, meaning "experts," are needed. It is our own notion that Sen. Carmody's idea is better. We have nothing against the so-called "expert," but surely there are numbers of men in this state fully competent to conduct an investigation and in a position to contribute their time and energy without compensation in unselfish public service. If they should feel the need for expert advice, they could call for it.

In general sense, Nebraska has made great progress in the last 40 years towards improved prison methods, particularly when it comes to an improved physical plant and common-sense, humane consideration in the everyday life that goes on behind prison walls.

The governor is a busy man, but he ought to make up his mind what he is going to do about Sen. Carmody's proposal.

Failure At Geneva?

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Nowhere have I seen a more devastating attack upon American foreign policy than the criticism voiced by Joseph C. Harsch, chief of the Washington staff of the Christian Science Monitor.

It is not the criticism of an unfriendly newspaper. Through thick and thin, sometimes seemingly in goggle-eyed veneration, the Monitor has followed where Dulles and President Eisenhower have led. But it is a most thoughtful presentation which Mr. Harsch makes with reference to developments in Europe and Asia.

"The total power of a great nation to influence the course of world events does not depend upon weapons alone," he writes, "a fact overlooked too often by statesmen even though the pages of history are strewn with the wreckage of armies and nations which went down to defeat at the hands of opponents less well and plentifully equipped with modern arms. The United States went into the Indo-China crisis still the best-armed nation in the world. It possessed more and bigger atomic weapons; more and bigger and more varied ships and planes, guns and motor vehicles, range-finders and homing devices than any other nation on earth."

Blunder Upon Blunder

What happened? Why have we been at odds with certain of our allies? Why have we been drifting more and more away from the western defense community, with their peoples apparently suspicious of us? Why is it that they no longer wait for our words eagerly and with full confidence that what we say represents the course of wisdom?

Despite our repeated warnings to Communist China through January, February and March to stand clear of Indo-China, Harsch says, the Chinese Communists coolly proceeded to project their military power into Indo-China, in the end called America's hand. ". . . Washington failed to mobilize the western alliance to make good on its warnings. The event exposed an erosion of power which could be exercised from Washington. It is difficult to assess the true relative power of a nation at any one time. It is impossible to assign an erosion of power to any one single factor. But the contributory causes to the decline of American prestige (or power) are not difficult to outline."

We talked big. We spoke of massive retaliation. We were blustery, with provocation, but blustery without any intention of carrying through. We had neglected the machinery of the western alliance. "The vital interests of Britain and France, the principal allies, were underestimated or miscalculated."

Crisis And Transition

In this vital period of crisis and transition, Harsch writes, "American reliance had been transferred too heavily to atomic weapons. They had seemed to be sufficient answer to the problems of American interests in the world. The American military position was being regeared to atomic weapons, partly in the interest of economy at home. When the test came, atomic weapons proved to be unusable in Indo-China. . . . They were of no deterrent value, they simply did not deter."

Harsch insists that "too much attention was paid to Moscow, too little to Peking — too much relaxation had been granted to the American people and Congress by an almost-pledge that Korea was the last place where American ground troops would ever be used on the Asiatic mainland—and too much had been contributed to relaxation by talk of possessing 'the initiative' by the implications of budget cuts and by domestic preoccupation with Communist dangers at home. . . . The issue of Communism at home blurred and obscured the dangers overseas."

★

Making It Too Simple

But what has hurt most of all has been a disposition in Washington, starting with the campaign of 1952, to make the job much more simple than it really is.

"It is difficult to avoid a further conclusion, although it cannot be proved," Harsch wrote, "that the Eisenhower administration was lulled into a false sense of security by its own talk of holding 'the initiative,' its 'new look' and its old pre-inauguration assumption that most American troubles derived from the incompetence of the Democrats."

Harsch concludes with these words:

"The first real foreign policy crisis of the Eisenhower administration caught it with an overestimate of its own strength and an underestimate of the opponents' capacity. It could no more rally the alliance than the Congress . . . Washington was caught with a commitment in excess of its resources. It had to recognize the condition and start rebuilding the eroded power of the United States."

There in sympathetic, understanding spirit are the high points of the American story of the last 12 months in the field of foreign policy.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

It was an old "granddad" which Gordon Gelster of Brady hauled from the waters of the irrigation canal chain south of his home community early this spring. Weight, 13 pounds and five ounces, any walleye this size must have survived a hundred underwater battles to do pretty well by himself.

★

Nebraska Recreation Opportunities

It's a long cry from pioneer days and centennial thoughts when the news columns tell of a walleye catch equalling that of Gelster's. Fact is, walleyes rarely grow that big. Gelster's catch set a state record. And something to talk about was the haul of a 13-year-old Wauneta lad, Lloyd Wade, who had the good luck to tie into a northern pike weighing just under 20 pounds. Wade's catch was at the Sutherland Reservoir. These man-made lakes on Nebraska streams, including the Platte, the Republican and others, are paying off in a big way—first, in opening the doors to expanding irrigation through storage of vast amounts of water; next, facilitating the generation of cheap electricity; and third, but not to be sneezed at, in providing recreational opportunities unknown to Nebraskans until their lakes and irrigation canals were built. Coupled with measures of flood control and other benefits, a new era started in Nebraska in a period of greatest uncertainty, the unforgettable 'thirties.' And Nebraskans will continue to collect rich dividends from these developments for the next hundred years.

★

When Nebraskans reached deep into their pockets to build a new state capitol, starting in the 'twenties, it was with the thought that the new building would provide adequate office facilities for 50 years, and on the more optimistic side, for all time. It was a magnificent undertaking and from out of it came one of the 10 outstanding buildings in the world.

★

Reflections Of The American Scene

A gay, uninhibited people pushing constantly towards higher goals, little realize one phase of American life. Where is there the imagination to visualize what the United States will be 25 years from now, or any section of this big irrepressible country? Former Gov. Sam McKelvie broke ground for the new capitol building on April 15, 1922 in appropriate ceremonies. Ten years later—in 1932—Goodhue's masterpiece was completed and dedicatory ceremonies held. The feeling then, and understandably so after the expenditure of $10 million, was that Nebraskans had taken care of the office space requiremnets of Nebraska state government for a half century or more. Now, in these gorgeous spring days of May, 1954, the word goes out that all the facilities of a huge, artistically beautiful building, rising high in the sky, are occupied and from now on additional room will come the hard way. There is a measure of the services which people expect of their government. There, also, is the tapeline to notch the stature of growing maturity. Finally, there could be an invitation to thoughtful consideration of 14 years of unbroken rule by one political party.

★

Investigator Of Joe Thinks Senate Lax

WASHINGTON—Sen. Hendrickson of New Jersey, Republican, made a speech on the Senate floor the other day which did not get too much attention in the press, but which did get a lot of attention among his colleagues. What he said was that when he viewed the McCarthy-Army hearings and certain Senate "investigative" tactics, "the public good might be served if the Senate could find a hole into which all its members could crawl."

It happens that Sen. Hendrickson is in an excellent position to talk about the McCarthy investigation. Because for two years he sat on an investigating committee which patiently and painstakingly sifted evidence regarding McCarthy himself, his bank records, his concealed speculating activities, the money he received to fight Communism, the way he used some of that money for his own personal gain.

In the end Hendrickson wrote the most damning report ever produced on a fellow senator, only to have it gather dust in the files of Attorney General Brownell.

So it can be understood why Hendrickson feels like crawling into a hole when he now sees the kid-glove treatment, the careful consideration and gracious courtesy given to this same senator he investigated.

☆ ☆ ☆

The McCarthy report which Sen. Hendrickson helped write two years ago was not well publicized in the press at the time. And shortly after McCarthy's friend, Sen. Jenner of Indiana, became head of the Rules Committee with jurisdiction over the government printing office, it became impossible to buy copies of the dynamite-laden report. They simply disappeared. The government printing office will tell you they are out of stock, and a copy at a second-hand bookstore is worth a small fortune.

However, I happen to have one of the first copies printed, and from it are taken the following interesting highlights of Joseph R. McCarthy's strange financial tangle:

Prior to McCarthy's campaign against Communism, he was in constant hot water with his bank, the First National Bank of Appleton, Wis. At one time in 1946 he owed the bank $170,029.03. Though this had been reduced by varying amounts, the Senate committee's investigation showed that McCarthy's financial problems vanished after he started his campaign against Communism.

The Senate committee also raised doubts as to whether money given him to fight Communism was not used for the senator's own pocketbook interest instead.

The report showed, for instance, that McCarthy's bank deposits at the Riggs National Bank where he banked in Washington, together with the deposits of his assistant, Ray Kiermas, "increased contemporaneously with the advent of McCarthy's 'fight' to expose Communists."

☆ ☆ ☆

JOE'S DEPOSITS ZOOM

In four years, 1948-1952, the committee reported, McCarthy deposited $172,623.18 in the Riggs Bank, while Assistant Ray Kiermas deposited $96,921.26. During this same period, McCarthy's Senate salary was only $50,000.

Of this $172,623.18, the Senate noted, $19,000 of McCarthy's deposits were in cash, while $59,592.52 were from "unidentified sources." During the same period, the cash deposits of Ray Kiermas totaled $29,230, most of which was in amounts over $300.

The Senate committee went to a lot of work to track down part of this money. It found that some of it came from people who said they didn't care how McCarthy spent it, but much came from people who definitely expected him to spend their money to fight Communism.

Frank Porter, president of the Fain-Porter Drilling Co., of Oklahoma City, was one who told Senate investigators he placed "no strings" on the $500 he gave McCarthy.

On the other hand, Craig Sheaffer, president of Sheaffer Pens, who later served as Eisenhower's assistant secretary of Commerce and resigned after the Dr. Astin-Bureau of Standards row, gave $1,000 because of McCarthy's "fight against Communism." Various other givers attached the same strings, causing the Senate committee to comment: "The money should have been deposited as a trust fund."

But the contrary happened. Instead, the committee found, there was "no connection between many of the disbursements from this account and any possible anti-Communist campaign."

Specifically McCarthy used this fund given him by the public to pay $73.80 on his own income taxes; $1,300 to give Ray Kiermas when his bank account was low; another check for $200 when another bank account was overdrawn; and $500 to speculate on the soybean market.

☆ ☆ ☆

SOYBEANS VS. COMMUNISM

The soybean speculation was one of the most brazen uses of anti-Communist funds cited by the Senate committee. The money used by McCarthy to attempt to enrich his own pocket included $500 taken from his "general" bank account into which anti-Communist money had been deposited; plus $7,000 and $3,000 loaned him by Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bentley.

Mr. Bentley, now congressman from Michigan, badly wounded by a Puerto Rican, told committee investigators his money was advanced for the purpose of fighting Communism, and he would be disappointed if McCarthy "had used it for gambling or to advance his personal financial condition."

Russia In Move To Isolate America

GENEVA—A month ago Secretary of State John Foster Dulles made his sudden dramatic trip to London and Paris to propose a Southeast Asia defense pact. He believed at the end of that four-day intensive series of consultations that he had gained assent from America's principal allies to go ahead and lay the groundwork as rapidly as possible for an agreement that would call into being defense forces in the same pattern as the North Atlantic treaty organization.

A series of disillusionments has followed, and it is important to try to appraise the American position in the light of what has happened in a period that has seemed at times to bring the Western Alliance close to the breaking point. Dulles' motive was to build a position of strength for bargaining purposes at Geneva.

It is impossible to predict what the American position will be a month from now, but with good luck the strenuous efforts being put forward in a half-dozen capitals will have borne fruit and the framework of a defense pact will be in place. At the very least this will make it possible to draw a defense line for Southeast Asia and put the Communists on notice that crossing the line means war.

Again with good luck, and it will have to be very good luck indeed, a part of Indo-China would be included within this defense perimeter and the three associated states, their independence assured under a respectable armistice reached at Geneva, would be members of the pact. This kind of luck depends on the capacity of the Laniel government, which has just had a squeak escape from extinction, to carry out measures to strengthen the French position.

The British are still saying they will not agree to any sort of pact, either political or military, until further exploration here shows whether peace can be reached by negotiation. And the Americans are nevertheless going ahead to recruit support with or without the British.

☆ ☆ ☆

If the worst should happen in the next month, then the position of the United States and the free world will be gravely imperilled. The Communist conquest of Indo-China will have advanced to the stage at which a desperate appeal to save French lives will be the final cry. Already, according to reports from Washington, the French government has asked how America would respond to such an appeal. From Hanoi come reports that Communist irregular battalions are taking to the field with equipment and apparently, according to long prearranged plans, much faster than had been anticipated.

Under such circumstances wavering Asian nations could hardly be expected to lend their support to a defensive pact. British left-wing opposition would be even more adamant than it has been in the recent past.

Knowledgeable sources believe the Communists have a carefully worked out plan for just this situation. They would push forward their own so-called security pact for Europe, with a similar pact for Asia thrown in. Along with this would go an offer to France to quit the war on terms that would save human life, and accompanying this offer would be a powerful propaganda plea to line up on the Soviet side.

Already hints of this have come. The Russian request to join NATO was more, it is believed, than just a propaganda gesture. At the right moment Moscow can point to that request which was turned down and cite it as proof that Communism did actually want to become part of a European security system. So now, as the propaganda line will have it, the time has come to form a system without the United States.

If this seems a long and ominous look into the future it must never be forgotten that Communism plays not for next year or the next election but for 50 years and 100 years hence. American officials trying to look realistically at this grim moment of pause believe the Russians are in fact driving for a diplomatic political showdown that would result in forcing America back into isolation.

The little brown men throwing themselves in fanatical waves against French strongpoints in the jungle 10,000 miles away are pawns on this vast and terrifying chess board. So are the neutralists and those who live in tragic and quite understandable dread of another war with weapons of immeasurable force. There is no use disguising the fact that today in this struggle America is at a great disadvantage. To falter, to fall apart in further disunity would be to let the game go by default.

AS OTHERS SEE IT

The Berlin Pact Pattern

Editor's Note: The Manchester (England) Guardian editorially sees a possible kinship in the earlier dealings that brought calm to Berlin and those issues which today plague the world in Southeast Asia. Over Berlin the Reds and the West each gave ground. They agreed to disagree peaceably. This tack might avert further bloodshed in Indo-China—an armistice to permit time and peaceable methods to come into play.

★

The best to be expected of the Geneva conference is that it will conclude with the kind of calm achieved at Berlin.

The Berlin conference did not agree to unite Germany but did succeed in lowering tension in Europe. It ended without bitterness, polemics, or threats on either side. The Geneva conference may yet achieve a similar result in Asia—if both sides try. The conference is most unlikely to succeed in reuniting Korea and equally unlikely to reach a political settlement for Indo-China, but it could still produce agreement to disagree unbelligerently about Korea and could still bring an armistice for Indo-China.

Of course, the attitude of China has not been wholly disclosed, and Mr. Chou En-lai may yet prove to be in a more vicious mood than Mr. Molotov was at Berlin. In that event nothing will be gained.

There have also, of course, been unhappy rifts between Mr. Dulles and the other Western delegations at Geneva, although none that could not be repaired quite quickly. The Western ministers, at any rate, ought to do their best both to restore their own unity and to achieve an ending of the conference at least as favorable as Berlin's.

President Eisenhower pointed the way for them at his press conference (perhaps too plainly for Mr. Dulles' comfort). He said that a course should be steered between two extremes. It was unacceptable to have the anti-Communist defenses in Asia crumble and disappear, and a completely satisfactory settlement with the Communist world seemed unattainable.

In these circumstances, he said, it seemed best to seek a practical basis for getting along with the Communists. We had done that in Europe since the Berlin blockade and we should do it in the Far East, including Indo-China. His advice is good (even if it does represent second thoughts caused by the American public's distaste for sending Americans to Indo-China). It should be heeded.

What should be the "practical basis for getting along"? In Korea there appears now to be only one possibility—to accept the present division of the country as something that will last a number of years.

The Communists will not abandon at the conference table what they won in war, nor will the United Nations side. The Chinese will not abandon North Korea as a buffer protecting Manchuria, nor will the North Korean Communists abandon control of the territory they hold. To suppose otherwise would be sheer fantasy.

The alternative is simply to agree with the Communists to disagree peacefully—in other words, to let Korea remain divided, with the safety of the North guaranteed by China and the safety of the South guaranteed by U.N.

Indo - China the situation is not so straightforward. The immediate need is an armistice. That would end the fighting, give the two sides time to cool down and prevent the ruin of the country. An armistice, obviously, would have to be be based on military realities. It could be achieved if both sides want it.

An armistice should not be confused with a political settlement, which would be almost impossible to attain, Bao Dai and Ho Chi Minh are each entitled to their ideas on independence. Let each government work out its ideas on its own territory.

These decisions, then, could be the "practical basis for getting along." Korea would remain divided but less tensely so, and the Indo-Chinese war would be ended by an armistice although not with a political agreement.

There is no denying, of course, that some people in the United States and in France would resist such a settlement. Equally, it is more than possible that China's ambitions in Southeast Asia may be such that she does not want tranquility. We do not know.

The Western ministers at Geneva ought, nevertheless, to try for a settlement in some such form. In America it would have to be understood that stabilization of the present situatiion is neither dishonorable nor as dangerous as an attempt to force China into withdrawal by threats (especially when the United States, as much as Britain, is unready to carry out those threats by committing her troops in the Far East).

In America it would also have to be understood that any policy in Asia must gain the support of the major governments in Asia. The words of the Colombo communique by the Prime Ministers of India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Burma and Indonesia ought to be heard above the voices of men like Syngman Rhee, Chiang Kai-shek and Bao Dai.

In France it ought to be realized that no satisfactory settlement for Indo-China is conceivable unless the Associated States are granted the right to complete independence if they wish it. But with an understanding of these things, an easing of tension in Asia may be achieved at Geneva.

No Avalanche

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Up to the present date, the expected avalanche of replies seeking the services of Mr. Sodium Sil F., as per his recent offer, has not materialized. This is somewhat disappointing, and we are at a loss to account for it.

If this lack of interest is caused by the lack of references given, the gentleman is prepared to offer the best. His twin brother has had a wide working acquaintance with the people of Lincoln for years, and will gladly vouch for him.

The Relatives

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Mr. Allen's distinction between realities and the supernatural (The Star, May 14) itself unrealistically overlooks major historical facts.

Dealing in realities, we find faithfully recorded in the New Testament the historical fact that "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son" for our redemption. The factual accuracy is attested by the deaths of the apostles and disciples of the Saviour, plus the vast throng of their contemporaries, and those who followed. A few crackpots and fanatics might endure torture and death for a lie or an uncertain cause, but would so many thousands?

Reality tells us that for several centuries, the "supernatural something" was the only bulwark between European civilization and the ignorant savagery of the Hun, Mongolian and Turkish hordes of Asia.

Reality also tells us that the ages of "signs and omens, and hobgoblins" (as extant today as they ever were) produced some of the world's greatest culture—plus discoveries and knowledge accumulation without which our present advance would be impossible. For every Thomas Edison or Luther Burbank who allegedly solved his problems "rationally," we can cite a Pasteur, Columbus, Michaelangelo, a Duns Scotus, or a Constantine The Great, who contributed much to the world's store of knowledge and glory, and who lived very closely with that "supernatural something out of a dim past."

No, let us not forget the realities. To do so might result in our own spiritual ruin.

Laborer's View

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I believe that a laboring man's view should be heard on the following subject.

People of Lincoln, watch out. Your tax money is going to be used to subsidize the downtown businessman. It is only natural with all the members of our present City Council representing business that they should try to keep all business downtown. We do not now need to keep all business in the one area. It has been proved to us in the last few years that our outlying business areas can relieve some of the congestion in the one business area. If the businessmen want to monoplize the business, let them furnish their own parking. If off-street parking is provided by the city in our downtown area, then we should also furnish the same for Bethany, University Place, Havelock, College View, etc. — and we certainly cannot afford that. Keeping all of our business in one small area is the one way to keep our city in its present one-horse status. The real estate men are undoubtedly in on this, too. Their commission would come in the sale of the buildings and purchase of land by the city. If this one comes up on the ballot, I urge every working man to vote it down.

It is time that working people speak up and let the so-called leaders of the city know that we expect to be represented as equals with the businessman. Laborers, note — you have no one representing you on the present Council, nor have you had for some years. Make yourself known.

'Freedom For All'

Curtis, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Before we get too deeply involved in the affairs of southeast Asia, we had better consider the reasons for the Communists' advances. First we are told that that territory is rich in natural resources, and then we are told that hunger is the common lot of man. The wealth is largely in the hands of exploiters and the governments do not give the hungry hope. Along come the Communists with many promises and a little action, and the hungry people follow fanatically. "Asia For Asiatics" is an effective slogan.

We might be more popular if we had a few slogans like "Freedom For All," and "No Friend of America Goes Hungry," and we could impress with good intentions. Neither should we be too considerate to show that Communism is the most unreasonable, the most wicked, and the cruelest form imaginable and hard to destroy.

The condition looks serious for us but we should not fight. The exploiters are being punished because they have allowed the many to be hungry while they became rich. For that reason the masses of Asia would turn against us if we try to check Communism there. The time has come when any government is weakened that allows the few to exploit the many.

Steelworkers Spell Out '54 Contract Demands

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The CIO United Steelworkers spelled out 1954 contract demands Tuesday for U. S. Steel Corp. in a brief meeting marking the opening of negotiations with the basic steel industry.

Vice President John A Stephens, who is heading the corporation's negotiating team, said his firm will study the demands before a second meeting with the union Wednesday.

David J. McDonald, president of the union which is seeking new contracts for 600,000 workers in the basic steel industry, said:

Nothing More

"We have met with the company and presented the issues. I have nothing more to say at this time"

Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of the board for U. S Steel, in an unprecedented move, attended the opening session and addressed the union and company negotiators.

Neither the union nor the company would comment on the demands presented except to say they are the same as those approved by the union's powerful 170-member wage policy committee.

The committee approved a four point program which included demands for higher wages, a guaranteed annual wage, improvements in the pension and hospitalization program and other changes. The contracts expire June 30.

The union has not said how much of a dollars-and-cents package the demands represent The basic steel workers are now earning an average hourly wage of between $2 14 and $2 24.

Both McDonald and Stephens described the first meeting as friendly. The company sent between 50 and 60 members to the bargaining table on its negotiating team The union was represented by 50 men

On the down grades, the little French Simca ran like a race horse. Sometimes 40 miles per hour. But on the uphill, it wheezed with asthma en rodage.

"En rodage" is French for "breaking in." For the first 300 miles the car must be run at low speeds. So that I would not cheat, the Simca people put a governor on the carburetor.

In the old university town of Salamanca, I completed my 300 and sought a garage. This meant switching my hard-won French garage vocabulary into Spanish.

"A little thing for make the car run slow," was the best I could do. The Spanish mechanics were entranced It is not often in Salamanca that you get a chance to take a completely strange car apart.

The mechanic gave it a couple of thoughtful raps with a wrench. He got an assistant and began wrenching things off the inside. I could see it was an enormous job and went to lunch There was a horrid clatter as something fell down inside the car.

☆ ☆ ☆

Salamanca was an Iberian town Hannibal stopped here three centuries B.C to get his chariots repaired. The Romans built it into a city. During the Moorish occupation it lay on the high road to Portugal.

During the Thirteenth century, the great Salamanca University was founded From across the river, the university and the great cathedrals are wonderfully imposing. Like a fortress town

The Michelin guide recommended a restaurant in the Plaza Mayor The restaurant was fair. It was filled with Spaniards hard at the afternoon work of drinking little cups of coffee and checking the action.

The action was out in the plaza It was a flat concrete square, completely surrounded by old buildings that formed a well You enter through arched gates on foot

Shoeshine boys hustled the customers. If you are not drinking coffee in the old Spanish tradition, you stand around and get your shoes shined.

The waiters had that frayed-cuff look that Spanish waiters seem to have. Spain is not a rich country. The hills are bare and the grass is cropped to stubble by sheep.

The waiter brought Pella Valenciana This is a saffron rice dish, loaded with chunks of fish and chicken And with red pimentos sliced over the top Lunch was six courses It cost about 60 cents

☆ ☆ ☆

After lunch I went into a book store and asked for the most popular book in Spain

"All these are popular," said the Spanish bookseller The shelf was full of paper-backed pocketsize books All of them were written by "M Fernandez y Gonzalez."

I chose one called "Amores y Estocadas." A lady in antique gown was reaching for a gentleman in knee breeches It seemed it was part of a series.

"Don Francisco de Quevedo y Villegas has gathered glory with his poetic pen and overcoming difficulties. But in this novel, the author presents him with his loves and formidable sword"

The scene opened in Madrid in 1624 with a grinding of gates and a cry of "Come and get justice!"

Which reminded me of the grinding justice being done to my Simca.

I am never sure just how much to tip on first days in new countries. But I gave the boy watching my car about 10 cents He shot off into the plaza with the look of a man about to buy a Cadillac.

☆ ☆

"It was only this," said the mechanic holding up a little piece of wire. He said the wire was attached to the carburetor. The Simca, he said, would run fast now.

After I got 10 kilometers out of town. I found that it ran fast downhill. And slow uphill. In fact there was no change.

I never did find what wire he cut off the Simca Or why the Simca people put it there.

"It was only this," said the mechanic holding up a little piece of wire. He said the wire was attached to the carburetor. The Simca, he said, would run fast now.

After I got 10 kilometers out of town, I found that it ran fast downhill. And slow uphill. In fact there was no change.

I never did find what wire he cut off the Simca. Or why the Simca people put it there.

State Soil In 'Splendid Condition' For Corn Planting

Week End Finish Is Expected

Nebraska soil is in "splendid condition" for corn planting. With good weather, the job will be just about finished by the end of this week, government crop observers say.

As of Saturday, about 32 per cent of the corn had been planted, according to the weekly report of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

Corn acreage may be greater than intended earlier because of the improvement in the soil moisture supply, the report said.

Winter wheat made "good progress" last week. And, thanks to week end rains in southwest Nebraska, moisture generally is adequate throughout the state at the moment.

Wheat Early

Wheat is early this year. Nemaha County reported one field had started to head out last week.

Late rains in southwest Nebraska should improve greatly the wheat in that area which has not already been abandoned. Some of the wheat had wilted and started to burn because of the prolonged drought.

A considerable number of counties report the presence of wheat mosaic, a virus-type disease.

Other observations covering last week

Oats showed a slight improvement but barley was unchanged. Both crops seems to be recovering from the freeze early this month and recent moisture has been a help.

Freeze Damage Varies

Reports on damage to alfalfa from the freeze vary from light to heavy. Some of the first crop had to be harvested ahead of schedule and some spring seeded alfalfa was killed.

Alfalfa dehydration plants are now operating but the major harvest will get under way about June 1.

Some sugar beets had to be replanted because of the freeze. Some early potatoes were nipped but will recover.

Temperatures over Nebraska last week averaged near or slightly above normal. Week end rains were moderate to heavy over much of the southeast, southwest and Panhandle.

In the first four months of this year, precipitation has varied from very heavy in the northeast, to very light over the south central, southwest and southern Panhandle, the report noted.

However, the south-central area received heavy precipitation last autumn and early winter and the ground is well supplied with moisture, the report added.

Precipitation reports for the week ending May 17:

| Eastern Division | | Central Division | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Grand Island | .31 | Burwell | .02 |
| Norfolk | .02 | Lexington | 1 08 |
| Lincoln | .11 | North Platte | 1.66 |
| | | Valentine | 10 |
| Western Division | | | |
| Chadron | 33 | Scottsbluff | 1 40 |
| Imperial | 1.71 | Sidney | .95 |

Precipitation from April 1 to May 14:

| | Eastern Div | Central Div. | Western Div. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Average past week | .01 | .19 | .01 |
| Total since April 1 | 1 42 | 1.35 | .29 |
| Normal since April 1 | 4 24 | 3.69 | 3 20 |

Showers Predicted For Wednesday

Showers and thunderstorms are expected Wednesday over much of the central and southern Rockies and western sections of the central and southern plains. A few showers are slated for the lower Mississippi Valley region and thunderstorms are foreseen for the Florida peninsula. The rest of the U. S. will have generally fair weather. (AP Wirephoto Map.)

Deputy Sheriff Suspended; Probe Reports He Sought Robber Testimony Switch

OMAHA (AP)—A deputy sheriff was suspended Tuesday while the county attorney's office investigated reports that he sought to change the stories of witnesses against a confessed robber.

Sheriff Richard Collins said he had removed Thomas Cronin from duty and had asked Deputy County Attorney M. Robert Fromkin to make a thorough investigation.

In a statement to County Attorney Eugene Fitzgerald, Chief Deputy Robert McGowan and Fromkin, Cronin denied the reports.

Fitzgerald refused to let reporters see the statement but Fromkin described it as "awfully naive."

'Visited Three Persons'

The sheriff's action came after Fromkin and police spent several hours talking to Mrs. Le Reine Frances de Croix, 21, Omaha.

She said she and Deputy Cronin Monday night had visited three persons who are expected to be witnesses against David Lawrence, 25, Omaha. He was arrested last Saturday and admitted having robbed five persons at knifepoint.

Their last visit was to Mrs. Marian Johnson, room clerk at the Neville Hotel, who called police after a woman called and asked to see her about the Lawrence case.

Detectives found Cronin and Mrs. de Croix talking to Mrs. Johnson. They said they heard him ask Mrs. Johnson if she was sure of her identification of Lawrence.

Cronin, the detectives said, "also told Mrs. Johnson she could have made a mistake in identifying this man . . ."

Mrs. de Croix said that on a visit to Lawrence's cell Monday Cronin told her, "I don't think he's guilty" and suggested she get in touch with him later.

They met at the place where she works as a waitress and then went to visit robbery witnesses, she said.

Mrs. de Croix said she had known Lawrence when he was a porter and she was an elevator operator at a downtown hotel.

Hyslop Is Found Guilty Of Speeding

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—A District Court jury took a little less than two hours to return a verdict of guilty against David Hyslop, charged with speeding.

The jury heard the case on an appeal by Hyslop, of Omaha, from a county court decision. May 28 was set as the date for sentencing by Judge E. G. Kroeger.

State Safety Patrolman Irvin Mouczyk testified he arrested Hyslop last Jan. 18 after overtaking him on a county road leading into Grand Island from Central City and had clocked Hyslop at 75 miles an hour.

Hyslop contended he had not exceeded 50-55 miles an hour.

Tornado Victims's Estate Is Settled

Lincoln Star Special

ORD, Neb.—A settlement has been made here in the estate of Mads Madsen who, with his family, was killed last summer when a tornado struck his farm home.

The case, Jack L. Witty vs. Mads Madsen Estate, was settled out of court with Witty receiving the Madsen farm which he is now farming, along with $4,500. Witty's wife and three children were also killed in the tornado. Witty was not at the farm home when the twister struck.

Two daughters of Mr. Madsen, who live in Washington, appeared to be the lone surviving heirs to the estate. Witty made an earlier effort to establish a part of the estate in county court, but failed in this. Killed in the tornado were members of the Witty family, Mr. and Mrs. Madsen, a daughter, Mrs. Dolly Johnson and her two children, and a son, Virgil Madsen.

Insurance Tax Fund Growing

The insurance tax fund as established by law in 1951 continues to increase, State Treasurer Frank Heintze said in announcing the distribution of $2,501,827 to the state general fund and to counties.

The tax brought in $1,941,189 in 1952 and $2,449,578 in 1953. The revenue is obtained from a 2 per cent levy on premiums collected. Half of the fund goes to the state and the other half to counties.

The county share is divided 10 per cent to the general fund, 60 per cent to school districts and 30 per cent to cities and villages.

The distribution is made on a population basis with the school share being divided on a basis of average attendance.

The state general fund will receive $1,250,913 and the various counties will share as follows:

The scholarship is for $525 annually for four years and was awarded on the basis of superior scholarship and leadership in high school. She plans to take the medical technology course at Colorado College.

Rev. Guest Is Filling Chadron Interim Post

Lincoln Star Special

CHADRON, Neb. — The Rev. W. H. Guest of Lincoln will serve here as interim pastor of the First Congregational Church of Chadron, it has been announced.

The Rev. and Mrs. Guest will reside in Chadron and conduct all the pastoral duties of the church until a regular pastor can be secured.

Privately-Owned Electric Firms Ask Multiple Purpose Dam Use

DENVER (AP) — Twenty-one privately owned electric companies told a Hoover Commission task force they should be allowed to build powerhouses and generating facilities on multiple purpose dams or should be given the right to buy electricity without discrimination.

Their case was prepared by E. M. Naughton of Salt Lake City, vice president and general manager of the Utah Power & Light Co.

The companies are in the Rocky Mountain area.

Naughton said the power companies would pay taxes on powerhouses and generating facilities they build.

He contended that a "preference" clause giving public agencies first call on power generated on federal hydroelectric projects "discriminates against the vast majority of electric users and relegates them to the position of second class citizens."

This occurs, he said, because most of them buy power from privately owned utilities.

Wagener Explains Stand On Taxes

OMAHA (AP)—Republican gubernatorial candidate Frederick Wagener said here he favors a sales tax as the best means of broadening the state's tax base. He added that this stand is only with the specific condition that if adopted, the sales tax be a replacement measure, not an added tax.

Talking to the Omaha Business Women's Republican club, the Lancaster County attorney said "we simply have too narrow a tax base, property bears too much of the load even to the extent where it is burdensome and well nigh confiscatory where real estate is concerned.

"Generally, I lean toward a sales tax. Some people like an income tax. Some prefer a combined sales-income tax. Any of these would mean a broader base and include 100 per cent of the population and should result in a reduction of from 20 to 25 per cent in property taxes," the Lincolnite commented.

Columbus Youth Gets Annapolis Appointment

FREMONT, Neb. (AP)—Gordon Goldenstein, Midland College freshman from Columbus has received an appointment to the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. The appointment was made by Rep. Harrison (R-Neb).

Frank Lantz, 87, Dies; Retired Newspaperman

HASTINGS, Neb — Funeral services were held for J. Frank Lantz, 87, newspaperman in central Nebraska for many years. He published newspapers at Hildreth and Republican City. In more recent years he has lived at Franklin and Hastings.

Surviving are his wife, four daughters, four sons, 16 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Omaha Woman Finds Wash Day 'For The Birds'

OMAHA (AP) — Sparrows are complicating the washing problems of Mrs. W. J. Noecker.

Her drier sits in a second floor kitchen with a vent pipe extending outside. Through the pipe came a sparrow family to take up homemaking in the drier.

For a while Mrs. Noecker kept destroying nests, and the birds kept rebuilding. One day when she found an egg in the nest, she gave up.

Now she removes the nest and its egg when she uses the drier.

Legality Blocks Road 83 Work

A legal technicality, rather than money, continues to be the thing that prevents improvement of Highway 83 between North Platte and McCook, statehouse sources say.

Harry Strunk of McCook said last week that if the state does not use some of its four million dollars in "bonus" funds for building the road, he will run for governor himself with the aim of doing that job.

Gov. Robert Crosby and State Engineer L. N. Ress had announced earlier that 125 miles of gravel will be hard surfaced with money left over from the originally-announced 1953-55 highway program. The North Platte-McCook road was not included.

The original 1953-55 highway program called for the relocation and improvement of U.S. 83 from Wellfleet north at a cost estimated at $348,000. But the 1953 Legislature inadvertently made this and five other projects illegal by taking away the state's right to relocate roads that are not part of the state-designated system.

The next Legislature is expected to take up the matter. And if the legal block is removed early enough, work on the project could still get under way before the expiration of the biennium on July 1, 1955.

Oats showed a slight improvement but barley was unchanged. Both crops seems to be recovering from the freeze early this month and recent moisture has been a help.

Freeze Damage Varies

Reports on damage to alfalfa from the freeze vary from light to heavy. Some of the first crop had to be harvested ahead of schedule and some spring seeded alfalfa was killed.

Alfalfa dehydration plants are now operating but the major harvest will get under way about June 1.

Some sugar beets had to be replanted because of the freeze. Some early potatoes were nipped but will recover.

Temperatures over Nebraska last week averaged near or slightly above normal. Week end rains were moderate to heavy over much of the southeast, southwest and Panhandle.

In the first four months of this year, precipitation has varied from very heavy in the northeast, to very light over the south central, southwest and southern Panhandle, the report noted.

However, the south-central area received heavy precipitation last autumn and early winter and the ground is well supplied with moisture, the report added.

Precipitation reports for the week ending May 17:

Deputy Sheriff Suspended; Probe Reports He Sought Robber Testimony Switch

OMAHA (AP)—A deputy sheriff was suspended Tuesday while the county attorney's office investigated reports that he sought to change the stories of witnesses against a confessed robber.

Sheriff Richard Collins said he had removed Thomas Cronin from duty and had asked Deputy County Attorney M. Robert Fromkin to make a thorough investigation.

In a statement to County Attorney Eugene Fitzgerald, Chief Deputy Robert McGowan and Fromkin, Cronin denied the reports.

Fitzgerald refused to let reporters see the statement but Fromkin described it as "awfully naive."

'Visited Three Persons'

The sheriff's action came after Fromkin and police spent several hours talking to Mrs. Le Reine Frances de Croix, 21, Omaha.

She said she and Deputy Cronin Monday night had visited three persons who are expected to be witnesses against David Lawrence, 25, Omaha. He was arrested last Saturday and admitted having robbed five persons at knifepoint.

Their last visit was to Mrs. Marian Johnson, room clerk at the Neville Hotel, who called police after a woman called and asked to see her about the Lawrence case.

Detectives found Cronin and Mrs. de Croix talking to Mrs. Johnson. They said they heard him ask Mrs. Johnson if she was sure of her identification of Lawrence.

Cronin, the detectives said, "also told Mrs. Johnson she could have made a mistake in identifying this man..."

Mrs. de Croix said that on a visit to Lawrence's cell Monday Cronin told her, "I don't think he's guilty" and suggested she get in touch with him later.

They met at the place where she works as a waitress and then went to visit robbery witnesses, she said.

Mrs. de Croix said she had known Lawrence when he was a porter and she was an elevator operator at a downtown hotel.

Hyslop Is Found Guilty Of Speeding

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—A District Court jury took a little less than two hours to return a verdict of guilty against David Hyslop, charged with speeding.

The jury heard the case on an appeal by Hyslop, of Omaha, from a county court decision. May 28 was set as the date for sentencing by Judge E. G. Kroeger.

State Safety Patrolman Irvin Mouczyk testified he arrested Hyslop last Jan. 18 after overtaking him on a county road leading into Grand Island from Central City and had clocked Hyslop at 75 miles an hour.

Hyslop contended he had not exceeded 50-55 miles an hour.

Tornado Victims's Estate Is Settled

Lincoln Star Special

ORD, Neb.—A settlement has been made here in the estate of Mads Madsen who, with his family, was killed last summer when a tornado struck his farm home.

The case, Jack L. Witty vs. Mads Madsen Estate, was settled out of court with Witty receiving the Madsen farm which he is now farming, along with $4,500. Witty's wife and three children were also killed in the tornado. Witty was not at the farm home when the twister struck.

Two daughters of Mr. Madsen, who live in Washington, appeared to be the lone surviving heirs to the estate. Witty made an earlier effort to establish a part of the estate in county court, but failed in this. Killed in the tornado were members of the Witty family, Mr. and Mrs. Madsen, a daughter, Mrs. Dolly Johnson and her two children, and a son, Virgil Madsen.

Insurance Tax Fund Growing

The insurance tax fund as established by law in 1951 continues to increase, State Treasurer Frank Heintze said in announcing the distribution of $2,501,827 to the state general fund and to counties.

The tax brought in $1,941,189 in 1952 and $2,449,578 in 1953. The revenue is obtained from a 2 per cent levy on premiums collected. Half of the fund goes to the state and the other half to counties.

The county share is divided 10 per cent to the general fund, 60 per cent to school districts and 30 per cent to cities and villages.

The distribution is made on a population basis with the school share being divided on a basis of average attendance.

The state general fund will receive $1,250,913 and the various counties will share as follows:

Privately-Owned Electric Firms Ask Multiple Purpose Dam Use

DENVER (AP) — Twenty-one privately owned electric companies told a Hoover Commission task force they should be allowed to build powerhouses and generating facilities on multiple purpose dams or should be given the right to buy electricity without discrimination.

Their case was prepared by E. M. Naughton of Salt Lake City, vice president and general manager of the Utah Power & Light Co.

The companies are in the Rocky Mountain area.

Naughton said the power companies would pay taxes on powerhouses and generating facilities they build.

He contended that a "preference" clause giving public agencies first call on power generated on federal hydroelectric projects "discriminates against the vast majority of electric users and relegates them to the position of second class citizens."

This occurs, he said, because most of them buy power from privately owned utilities.

Wagener Explains Stand On Taxes

OMAHA (AP)—Republican gubernatorial candidate Frederick Wagener said here he favors a sales tax as the best means of broadening the state's tax base. He added that this stand is only with the specific condition that if adopted, the sales tax be a replacement measure, not an added tax.

Talking to the Omaha Business Women's Republican club, the Lancaster County attorney said "we simply have too narrow a tax base, property bears too much of the load even to the extent where it is burdensome and well nigh confiscatory where real estate is concerned.

"Generally, I lean toward a sales tax. Some people like an income tax. Some prefer a combined sales-income tax. Any of these would mean a broader base and include 100 per cent of the population and should result in a reduction of from 20 to 25 per cent in property taxes," the Lincolnite commented.

Omaha Woman Finds Wash Day 'For The Birds'

OMAHA (AP) — Sparrows are complicating the washing problems of Mrs. W. J. Noecker.

Her drier sits in a second floor kitchen with a vent pipe extending outside. Through the pipe came a sparrow family to take up homemaking in the drier.

For a while Mrs. Noecker kept destroying nests, and the birds kept rebuilding. One day when she found an egg in the nest, she gave up.

Now she removes the nest and its egg when she uses the drier.

Legality Blocks Road 83 Work

A legal technicality, rather than money, continues to be the thing that prevents improvement of Highway 83 between North Platte and McCook, statehouse sources say.

Harry Strunk of McCook said last week that if the state does not use some of its four million dollars in "bonus" funds for building the road, he will run for governor himself with the aim of doing that job.

Gov. Robert Crosby and State Engineer L. N. Ress had announced earlier that 125 miles of gravel will be hard surfaced with money left over from the originally - announced 1953 - 55 highway program. The North Platte-McCook road was not included.

The original 1953-55 highway program called for the relocation and improvement of U.S. 83 from Wellfleet north at a cost estimated at $348,000. But the 1953 Legislature inadvertently made this and five other projects illegal by taking away the state's right to relocate roads that are not part of the state-designated system.

The next Legislature is expected to take up the matter. And if the legal block is removed early enough, work on the project could still get under way before the expiration of the biennium on July 1, 1955.

Ress Doubts Solution To Highway 'Gap'

Fund Lack, More Road Use Blamed

BRIDGEPORT, Neb. (AP) — State Engineer L. N. Ress said Tuesday that it is doubtful that the gap which has developed during the last 10 years between highway use and highway improvement can be closed.

Ress addressed the Bridgeport Lions Club.

"The lack of revenue, coupled with the increased use of the motor vehicle, has caused this gap between use and improvement," he commented.

Distribution Assured

It has compelled the adoption of various mechanisms to assure the scientific distribution of existing money in an attempt to provide adequate highway facilities, the state engineer continued.

One such mechanism recently employed was the sufficiency rating system, Ress explained.

"This measure is not a cure-all for the highway dilemma, but merely an attempt through engineering knowledge to keep the state from falling further behind.

"Of the higher type pavings which are now in service in the state, 61 per cent will wear out in the next 10 years and a great many now in use have been in service well over the 20-year period for which they were initially designed," he said

Nebraska has received a 50 per cent increase in federal aid money, but the increase will not necessarily mean increased construction because of lack of revenue to match the federal aid at the state's disposal, Ress declared.

"We must be provided with necessary revenues and then dedicate ourselves to translate the revenue and skill at our disposal into modern adequate highways," he said.

Hearing on proposed tranfer of the Naponee Home Telephone exchange from D. J. Mahin to John C. Haines has been scheduled for May 28 at 2 p.m. in Lincoln.

The commission plans to consider a proposed rate increase for the Chase County Telephone Company of Champion, Neb, on June 8.

Authority has been granted to the Kenesaw Telephone Company of Kenesaw to raise rates, effective July 1. Increases would range in amount from 25 cents to $1.25 per month, depending on class of service.

Ress Doubts Solution To Highway 'Gap'

Fund Lack, More Road Use Blamed

BRIDGEPORT, Neb. (AP) — State Engineer L. N. Ress said Tuesday that it is doubtful that the gap which has developed during the last 10 years between highway use and highway improvement can be closed.

Ress addressed the Bridgeport Lions Club.

"The lack of revenue, coupled with the increased use of the motor vehicle, has caused this gap between use and improvement," he commented.

Distribution Assured

It has compelled the adoption of various mechanisms to assure the scientific distribution of existing money in an attempt to provide adequate highway facilities, the state engineer continued.

One such mechanism recently employed was the sufficiency rating system, Ress explained.

"This measure is not a cure-all for the highway dilemma, but merely an attempt through engineering knowledge to keep the state from falling further behind.

"Of the higher type pavings which are now in service in the state, 61 per cent will wear out in the next 10 years and a great many now in use have been in service well over the 20-year period for which they were initially designed," he said.

Nebraska has received a 50 per cent increase in federal aid money, but the increase will not necessarily mean increased construction because of lack of revenue to match the federal aid at the state's disposal, Ress declared.

"We must be provided with necessary revenues and then dedicate ourselves to translate the revenue and skill at our disposal into modern adequate highways," he said.

West Hemisphere Meet Urged On Guatemala Arms Shipment

Consultation Is Asked By Sen. Wiley

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) Tuesday urged Western Hemisphere nations to go into consultation about the shipment to Guatemala of arms from Communist-dominated Poland.

Such consultation, under inter-American agreements, could be the prelude to concerted action by the nations of the hemisphere.

Wiley, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and a frequent administration spokesman on foreign affairs, spoke at a dinner honoring Latin American diplomats.

Earlier, the State Department officially notified Latin American embassies here of the shipment, which it had annourced Monday night, but gave no indication whether it would promote any efforts to halt this or possible later shipments

Wiley said news of the shipment was "alarming" and "of the utmost gravity," but he told the diplomats in his prepared remarks that the situation is not one for United States concern alone.

"It is a hemispheric concern," he said. "It is a basis for hemispheric consultation"

The State Department announcement, which gave no details of the size or nature of the shipment, said it was made from the port of Stettin in Communist Poland, and the arms are now being unloaded in Guatemala.

Wiley said the shipment is "part of the Communist global pattern of force and violence" and is "totally disproportionate to any legitimate needs of that country. It is a shipment contrary to the best interests of all that for which the Organization of American States (OAS) stands"

In the House, Rep Hillings (R-Calif) said the arms delivery by "Soviet sources is undoubtedly aimed at the Panama Canal," and called for "bold action" by the United States.

"The Reds apparently wish to gain a foothold in Central America," he said, "so they can sabotage the Panama Canal if United States intervention should become necessary in southeast Asia."

The State Department orally informed the Latin American embassies of the shipment as a "matter of concern," and awaited their reactions.

The action was viewed as a "feeler" to test Latin American sentiment on the possibility of joining in some kind of inter-American action to check growing Communist activity in Guatemala.

Although the United States has repeatedly denounced the Guatemalan government as "playing the Communist game," other American republics have shown only mild interest and the department is hesitant to invoke any treaties without advance support of a majority of the other nations.

Press officer Lincoln White said at a news conference that the arms shipment could be brought up under the Rio Mutual Defense Treaty as a threat to the security of the Western Hemisphere.

Council Of Church Women Told UN Is 'War Substitute'

By MARILYN K. SWANSON
Star Staff Writer

Mrs. Theodore D Walser of New York City, field representative of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, told members of the Lincoln Council of Church Women Tuesday that the "United Nations council table must be substituted for the battlefield."

As a memmber of a UN consultive agency, Mrs. Walser is active in educational work for worldwide disarmament and peace She said that never again is it likely that the two great world powers will be so even in destructive potential. "There is a good chance for disarmament to come about now," she stated.

Women have unique gifts to offer the world, she stated. "They think in terms of the future as it will affect their families, they are conservative but unconventional and will try new ideas—materially, intellectually, and spiritually—more readily than men, and they look at war differently—putting the major emphasis on the loss of life," Mrs. Walser said

Being a Christian in the hydrogen age is also more serious and more is required than in any other time, she said.

"When a Christian sanctions war, he becomes spiritually depleted," she added

She emphasized that the United Nations has the greatest chance for winning "total peace."

Mrs. Walser was born in the Far East, the daughter of a tea and camphor exporter. Her father died when she was two and she was educated in this country and is a Smith College graduate. After her marriage, she and her husband returned to Japan to set up a school under the Presbyterian board of foreign missions.

The Walsers returned to this country six months after the attack on Pearl Harbor.

City-County CD Group Is Nominated

City and county officials have agreed upon the appointment of a six-member joint civil defense executive committee.

Mayor Clark Jeary and Russell Brehm, chairman of the county board of commissions, will recommend next week to their respective governing bodies the appointment of the following committee members: Earl Carter, Cobe Venner, Neil Hall, Archie Baley, J. P. Leimer, Mrs. Howard J. Gotfredson.

Still to be named is the overall city-county civil defense chairman. This person, said Jeary, will not come from the committee ranks.

The committee, said Jeary, will help in the organization of the civil defense program, determine policy matters and establish rules and regulations. City and county officials, said Jeary, will not run the civil defense program but will give whatever aid they can at all times.

Re-organization of the civil defense program was started some months ago The program is expected to include the organization for disaster work of all types of all civic organizations and the training of groups and individuals in emergency relief of every nature.

Mrs. Theodore D. Walser of New York City, field representative of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, told members of the Lincoln Council of Church Women Tuesday that the "United Nations council table must be substituted for the battlefield."

As a memmber of a UN consultive agency, Mrs. Walser is active in educational work for worldwide disarmament and peace. She said that never again is it likely that the two great world powers will be so even in destructive potential. "There is a good chance for disarmament to come about now," she stated.

Women have unique gifts to offer the world, she stated. "They think in terms of the future as it will affect their families, they are conservative but unconventional and will try new ideas—materially, intellectually, and spiritually—more readily than men, and they look at war differently—putting the major emphasis on the loss of life," Mrs. Walser said.

Being a Christian in the hydrogen age is also more serious and more is required than in any other time, she said.

"When a Christian sanctions war, he becomes spiritually depleted," she added.

She emphasized that the United Nations has the greatest chance for winning "total peace."

Mrs. Walser was born in the Far East, the daughter of a tea and camphor exporter. Her father died when she was two and she was educated in this country and is a Smith College graduate. After her marriage, she and her husband returned to Japan to set up a school under the Presbyterian board of foreign missions.

The Walsers returned to this country six months after the attack on Pearl Harbor.

City-County CD Group Is Nominated

City and county officials have agreed upon the appointment of a six-member joint civil defense executive committee.

Mayor Clark Jeary and Russell Brehm, chairman of the county board of commissions, will recommend next week to their respective governing bodies the appointment of the following committee members: Earl Carter, Cobe Venner, Neil Hall, Archie Baley, J. P. Leimer, Mrs. Howard J. Gotfredson.

Still to be named is the overall city-county civil defense chairman. This person, said Jeary, will not come from the committee ranks.

The committee, said Jeary, will help in the organization of the civil defense program, determine policy matters and establish rules and regulations. City and county officials, said Jeary, will not run the civil defense program but will give whatever aid they can at all times.

Re-organization of the civil defense program was started some months ago. The program is expected to include the organization for disaster work of all types of all civic organizations and the training of groups and individuals in emergency relief of every nature.

Washington Schools May Be Guide For Segregation Change

...Southern Leaders Up In Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Tuesday asked for progress reports on coming moves to end public school segregation in the District of Columbia. Officials said the capital's school system may be made a sort of pilot model to help guide the states in the historic switchover.

Many Southern leaders are up in arms against the Supreme Court's ruling that it is unconstitutional to educate white and Negro children in separate public schools. Some have come close to open defiance of the decision.

Eisenhower talked at the White House with the board of commissioners for the District of Columbia. Afterward Samuel Spencer, president of the board, reported the President asked to be kept in touch with the progress made toward an integrated school system here, where Negro pupils outnumber the white in public schools.

Presidential aids noted that Eisenhower is on record as favoring an end to segregation in Washington. He feels, they say, that if successful plans are made for an integrated system in the district it might serve to smooth the way for the changeover elsewhere.

Challenged

Farther South, in Georgia particularly, the court's ruling was repeatedly challenged.

Georgia's attorney general, Eugene Cook, charged the court with usurping legislative power and said he would refuse to participate in this fall's hearings on how the anti-segretation policy will be applied.

The Supreme Court still has to decide on the mechanics for making its decision effective and has called for arguments on the question. This legal debate may last for months.

M. D. Collins, superintendent of Georgia's public schools, predicted it will be half a century before segregation is ended in his state—"if then."

Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia denounced the ruling and called a meeting of a state commission for May 25 to devise legal means of sidestepping it.

Boycott Indicated

By International News Service

Officials of Georgia and possibly seven other states in which segregation is practiced indicated they will boycott a scheduled meeting with the U. S. Supreme Court next October to discuss racial integration in public schools.

Florida, however, became the first state other than those directly involved in Monday's decision to make plans to take part in the hearing next fall. The state cabinet formally directed Attorney General Richard Ervin to prepare a friend-of-the-court brief for submission to the high court.

The court, in abolishing segregation, invited attorneys general to help determine precisely when and how the separate schools will be opened to both races.

Governors of so-called "Deep South" states launched studies of the school segregation system—some with the idea of complying with the court edict, others with a view to nullifying the decision which set aside an 88-year-old theory "separate - but - equal" schools for white and black.

One Thing Nicer—News

THERE'S just one thing nicer than a soft May morning—and that's May morning news—especially when it involves a guest or two—a courtesy or two—and a little of this and that about these and those—

One of our guests who, by the way, leaves this morning to return to her home in Buffalo, N.Y., is Mrs. A. B. Howe, the former Olive Clemens of Lincoln. Mrs. Howe has been spending the past 10 days as the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Clemens.

* * *

AMONG the informal courtesies for Mrs. Howe was the 10:30 o'clock coffee on Tuesday morning for which Mrs. Frederick Aldrich was hostess at her home. Twenty-four guests were invited to greet Mrs. Howe.

* * *

ANOTHER of our guests this week is Dr. John S. Thompson who arrived Monday evening from Chicago, where he is interning at Billings Memorial hospital, to spend two weeks with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. John C. Thompson.

From Lincoln Dr. Thompson will go to New York City where he will be a medical resident at Presbyterian hospital.

* * *

THEN we learned that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen Poindexter have house guests — Mrs. Poindexter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wirthman, and her aunt, Miss Marie Wirthman arrived last week-end, in time to be present when young Robert Poindexter received his first Holy Communion at Blessed Sacrament church last Sunday.

* * *

THE CRIB CROWD is feeling quite festive over the arrival of Miss Laurie Catherine Edwards who arrived on Tuesday, May 18, at Bryan Memorial hospital. The small Miss Laurie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Edwards—and the sister of Michael, Deborah and Susan Edwards. Mrs. Edwards is the former Jane Baird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Baird—and Delta Gamma at the University of Nebraska. Mrs. W. J. Edwards is the young lady's paternal grandmother.

* * *

AND this is the morning that Miss Carolyn Cameron, whose marriage to Robert Hinds will be solemnized on Saturday, June 5, at the First Presbyterian Church in Sioux Falls, S. D., is announcing the members of the bridal party.

Miss Cameron has chosen Mrs. Stuart Wells of Omaha as the matron of honor, and the bridesmaid and bridesmatrons are Miss Carla Olson, Sioux Falls; Mrs. James Bennett of Oklahoma City, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Richard Moulton.

Rems Heiny of Oklahoma City will serve his brother-in-law as best man, and the ushers will include James Bennett, Oklahoma City; Donald Etmund, Stephen Flansburg, William Hein, Jr., and Stuart Wells of Omaha.

Miss Cameron is a Delta Gamma at the University of Nebraska.

We Hear That--

Mrs. A. L. Davis of Kansas City, Mo., has been the house-guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gurnon for the last few days. She left the first of the week to return to her home.

★

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Fowler are expected home soon from California where Mr. Fowler, who is director of the division of buildings and grounds at the University of Nebraska, has been attending a meeting of the Association of Physical Plant Administrators of Universities and Colleges which was held at Pasadena.

NU Dames To Entertain

The University Dames will meet at 8 o'clock Thursday evening at Ellen Smith Hall to honor the 28 members whose husbands will be June graduates of the University of Nebraska.

A program of music will be given by the Lincoln High School sophomore quartet, after which "diplomas" and flowers will be presented to the "graduating" members.

Those to be honored are Mrs. Joe Pospichal, Mrs. Don Obriecht, Mrs. Ken Buck, Mrs. Paul Swanson, Mrs. Wesley Schultz, Mrs. John Dzerk, Mrs. Arthur Taylor, Mrs. Glen Vest, Mrs. Robert DeBakker, Mrs. Ben Beard, Mrs. Claire Stenbeck, Mrs. Bob Bruner, Mrs. Norman Williams, Mrs. Lowell Neilson, Mrs. Norman Veach, Mrs. William Saad, Mrs. John Steen, Mrs. B. F. Stutheit, Mrs. Marvin Thompson, Mrs. Vaughn Hickman, Mrs. Duane McKenzie, Mrs. William Corrales, Mrs. Gerald Lawson, Mrs. Michael Whalen, Mrs. Patrick Engel, Mrs. Gordon Dahlgren, Mrs. Ken Schroeder and Mrs. Robert Osborn.

AN INTERESTING guest threesome recently arrived for a visit in Lincoln includes Mrs. Harold Palmer, her young daughter, Sarah, and her son, Christopher.

Mrs. Palmer and the children planed in from Short Hills, N.J., on Saturday afternoon and plan to remain for a few weeks as the guests of Mrs. Palmer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams.

Mrs. Palmer will be remembered as the former Pat Williams, Delta Gamma at the University of Nebraska.

Lincoln Woman's Club Dreams Come True

Construction on the Lincoln Woman's Club Building, to be located at the corner of 14th and L streets, will begin in the very near future according to Mrs. George L. Mechling, chairman of the club's building committee, which Tuesday morning awarded the building contract to the Broer Construction Company of Lincoln.

A one-story building to be constructed of pink brick and Bedford stone, the club house will cost approximately $80,000 and will be completed by Dec. 15.

Other contracts were awarded to the Bethany Heating and Plumbing Company and the Marshall Electrical Company, both of Lincoln.

The club house will be completely air-conditioned and will be provided with a public-address system. A feature of the building will be an auditorium with a seating capacity of 250, with an additional assembly room which can be divided by means of the modern folding doors to form dining rooms, a tea room or space for committee meetings. The main floor also will contain a lounge, an office and a fully-equipped kitchen.

The plans also include a full basement providing gymnasium facilities for the club's physical education department, a custodian's apartment and storage rooms.

Mrs. Harry W. Hust, newly-elected president of the club, has announced that ground-breaking ceremonies for the club house, which will face 14th street, will be held later this spring. The architect's drawing appears at center, above.

The construction of the club house, will terminate many years of fund-raising and planning by the club, which has long felt the need for a meeting-place and headquarters. The site, purchased by the club in the early 1920's, is the former Loveland property.

With a long-standing building fund of $70,000, the organization's original plans called for the $120,000 club house, pictured in the architect's drawing at left above. During the recent increase in building costs, the club's board of trustees and building committee seriously considered the purchase of the Midway Building on N street, (at left, below), and several Lincoln homes, including the Woods home on Sheridan (top, right), and the Ferguson home on the corner of 16th and H (below, right).

Recently, the organization completed an additional fund-raising drive under the direction of its board of trustees, of which Mrs. E. W. Rowe is chairman, and the new plans for the club house were formally accepted by the members early this year.

Members of the club's building committee, headed by Mrs. Mechling, immediate past president of the club, are Mrs. E. W. Rowe, Mrs. Pauline Paulson, Mrs. Glenn Mooberry, Mrs. Leo Lewellyn, Miss Joan Dorsch, Mrs. Ray C. Johnson, Mrs. E. L. Marti and Mrs. Donald Waggener.

The Hope for Hopeless Hair

A RESTOR TREATMENT is just what the name implies, it restores hair to a normal condition, for the many ills of hair, excessive dryness, split ends or damage from improper treatment. It is the quick restoration with the help of keratin, a protein found in normal hair which is often lost when the hair is abused or neglected for a month or two.

RESTOR is a solution of elements for hair designed to penetrate the hair shaft and remain there to revive, strengthen and add weight to limp, dull, scanty, bleached, drab and dyed hair. It will definitely change the appearance with just a single treatment to a more natural look and will make it feel like new grown hair, resulting in a defined and lustrous appearance, more satisfactory permanent waves and will prevent fading in tinted hair.

The whole process takes no longer than a few more minutes and helps to make a bygone of unruly hair.

Miss Joanne Lamb Is Bride

Three hundred and fifty invitations were issued for the wedding of Miss Joanne Monica Lamb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Lamb, to Richard Donald Mlinar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony F Mlinar of Columbus, which took place on Tuesday evening, May 18, at St. Paul Methodist Church. The 8 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by Dr. Frank A. Court, minister of St. Paul's, before a background of cathedral candles, in branched holders, and arrangements of white snapdragons. Loops of satin ribbon, caught with lemon leaf clusters, marked the processional aisle on either side. Houghton Furr, organist, accompanied Mrs. Robert Fletcher who sang.

Blue silk taffeta was chosen for the frocks of the attendants who were Mrs. William J. Misko, the matron of honor; Mrs. Frank A. The costumes, fashioned with fitted strapless bodices, touched with a delicate floral applique, and waltz-length skirts that flared into accentuated fullness from open pleats, were worn with brief cover-up jackets on which was repeated the applique motif. Their modern colonial bouquets were of Marguerite and Majestic daisies—Mrs. Misko's in all white, and the bridesmaids' in the blue and white. # Miss Joanne Lamb Is Bride

Three hundred and fifty invitations were issued for the wedding of Miss Joanne Monica Lamb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Lamb, to Richard Donald Mlinar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony F. Mlinar of Columbus, which took place on Tuesday evening, May 18, at St. Paul Methodist Church. The 8 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by Dr. Frank A. Court, minister of St. Paul's, before a background of cathedral candles, in branched holders, and arrangements of white snapdragons. Loops of satin ribbon, caught with lemon leaf clusters, marked the processional aisle on either side. Houghton Furr, organist, accompanied Mrs. Robert Fletcher who sang.

Blue silk taffeta was chosen for the frocks of the attendants who were Mrs. William J. Misko, the matron of honor; Mrs. Frank A. Mlinar, Columbus; Miss Sharon Reineke and Miss Anna Marie Obermeyer, the bridesmaids. The costumes, fashioned with fitted strapless bodices, touched with a delicate floral applique, and waltz-length skirts that flared into accentuated fullness from open pleats, were worn with brief cover-up jackets on which was repeated the applique motif. Their modern colonial bouquets were of Marguerite and Majestic daisies—Mrs. Misko's in all white, and the bridesmaids' in the blue and white. Mrs. John Dean and Miss Louise Nelson, wearing white satin choir robes, lighted the candles.

Frank A. Mlinar of Columbus served his brother as best man, and the ushers were Robert J. Lamb, brother of the bride; Lee W. Keller, Council Bluffs, Ia., and Jay Colvin of Des Moines, Ia.

The bride appeared in a gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle over satin which was designed with a long-sleeved lace bodice in which a deep neckline was contoured with floral-patterned lace,

After a honeymoon trip for which Mrs. Mlinar wore a blue-toned gray suit, with red accessories, Mr. Mlinar and his bride will go to Carmel, Calif., where the bridegroom is stationed with the Army.

Mrs. Mlinar attended the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority. Mr. Mlinar attended Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Tex., and was graduated from the University of Nebraska. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Gil Hodges Near Grand Slam Mark

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — If Gil Hodges maintains his grand slam pace of the past five years, he appears a cinch to break the National League record for most home runs with the bases filled and may even threaten the major league mark.

The powerfully built Brooklyn first baseman smashed his 10th grand slammer to move within two of the league record of 12 established by Rogers Hornsby 20 years ago and equalled by Ralph Kiner last season. Lou Gehrig holds the major league mark of 23.

It took Hornsby 20 years to accumulate his dozen grand slams. Kiner, the only active National Leaguer with more four-run blows than Hodges, needed only eight years to collect his dozen.

Hodges' hurry-up pace is making Kiner's seem slow by comparison. Gil hit his first grand slammer on May 14, 1949, his second full season in the majors. Five years and two days later, he collected his 10th. Only 30 years old, the Indiana strong boy figures to have at least five or six more seasons.

Only 10 players have hit more home runs with the bases full than Hodges. Gehrig's 23 outdistances all the others by a wide margin. The closest to Lou's totals are the 16 by Babe Ruth from 1919 through 1934 and by Jimmy Foxx from 1930 through 1945.

Hornsby, Kiner, Joe DiMaggio, Hank Greenberg and Rudy York are tied for fourth with 12 each. Al Simmons and Ted Williams are next with 11 apiece followed by Hodges, Vern Stephens and long George Kelly, at 10 each. Only Williams and Stephens, in addition to Kiner and Hodges, still are active. Williams is 35 years old, Stephens 33, and Kiner 32.

Other active performers with high grand slam totals include Al Rosen, Cleveland 6; Sid Gordon and Walker Cooper, Pittsburgh; Andy Seminick, Cincinnati and Wally Westlake, Cleveland 7; Pee Wee Reese and Roy Campanella, Brooklyn; Andy Pafko, Milwaukee and Gus Zernial, Philadelphia Athletics 6; Ray Boone, Detroit and Yogi Berra, New York Yankees 5.

Boone banged four of them last year to tie a season record held by several others including Ruth, Rosen, Frank Schulte and Tommy Henrich.

Stan Musial and Hank Sauer, the only other currently active players besides Williams, Kiner and Stephens who have hit more than 200 major league home runs, have found it difficult to accomplish the four-run wallop. Musial has hit only three in 11 campaigns.

Giants Buy Hoot Evers

NEW YORK (INS) — The New York Giants Tuesday purchased veteran outfielder Hoot Evers from the Boston Red Sox. The Giants, seeking outfield and pinch-hitting assistance, admitted they paid "more than the waiver price" of $10,000 for the 33-year-old flychaser. To make room for Evers, the Giants optioned infielder Ronnie Samford to Oakland of the Pacific Coast League.

What Makes The Chiefs Tick?

Those battling guys known as the Lincoln Chiefs return to Sherman field tonight to do battle with another Indian tribe that has been trying to rule the heap big Western League.

Anderson

It will be the Sioux City Soos against the Chiefs in a double bill, starting at 6:30 p.m.

From all indications, this momentus meeting ranks as the most important early-season collision in the league. Both teams have been front-runners for three weeks. Both teams are loaded with players who like to fight you right down to the final out.

What is the secret of this current gang of Chiefs?

(1) Addition of such new speed and consistent-hitting guys as Billy Smith and Orinthal Anderson.

(2) A swift, slick-fielding first baseman in Admiral John Paul Jones.

(3) The fact that Red McQuillen and Tom Neill, the heavy-sticking senior guard of the outfield, were with the club through spring training and are in better shape than a year ago. Also, outfield depth is now available to spell them in the late innings for defensive purposes.

(4) There now is a lineup that includes eight men who are liable to hit, whereas a year ago the lineup was studded with two or three automatic outs

(4) Last but hardly least, Manager Whitey Wietelmann, a fireball who the fans have already taken to heart, is a versatile guy who comes in handy as a fill-in player. His pitching has been effective, as has his infielding and his good-humored piloting keeps the team "up" at all times. The Western League hasn't seen a skipper like this since Stan Hack was at the Des Moines helm.

The only uncertainty over the long stretch continues to be in pitching depth and in the left side of the infield.

Anderson has done a tremendous job in filling in at third base, mostly because of his rifle arm and his natural baseball gifts. He prefers to play the outfield, but his work at third may overcome his personal wants.

Shortstop is still up for grabs Larry Neal must still prove he can hit Western League pitching and a replacement has not been found for Dusty Rhodes, who joined the semi-pros.

Aside from Andy Bush and Norm Brown, the Chefs haven't shown a pitcher who can stay in command all the way. And Brown was shelled for three straight losses.

Opportune hitting and Reliefer Roger Wright have saved the pitching corps. Witness the 3-0 record of Vance Carlson who has yet to last out a game.

---

You are going to like Jerry Bush, the new University of Nebraska basketball coach.

The big guy (6-4 and 220 pounds) oozes with enthusiasm for his new job. He considers it a challenge to get every Nebraska prepper under the Cornhusker wing.

He is a personality guy, a good salesman and the type a high school youth would follow to a university.

His official meeting with his Husker squad was done in perfect taste. After a chat with each lad, Jerry showed the squad movies of several of his Toledo University games. The players had an immediate opportunity to grasp their new coach's style of play.

He even had available a written pamphlet which shows the Bush style in detail. The cagers were soon scanning the sheet.

The Bush style reminds your flinger of the Hank Iba style, which is good enough for anyone. He plays it opposite to what the opposition plays it, always with an eye on defense.

If the foe wants to play it slow, a Bush team will slip into high gear and attempt to outspeed and outpass 'em.

Even if sufficient talent is missing, it looks like an interesting basketball season coming up at the coliseum.

NU Field Strength Holds Key

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

So goes the field events, so goes the Nebraska Cornhuskers.

That will be the slogan in the 26th annual Big Seven outdoor track and field meet at Boulder, Colo., Friday and Saturday.

Coach Ed Weir's Huskers have been out-pointed on the track all season yet have never yielded to a foe in the field event totals.

"I look for Cliff Dale to be up there in the discus," commented Weir. "He has been over 155 feet and should give Oklahoma's Van Dee a good match.

"Ken Reiners, who has twice been over 51 feet in the shot putt, could come out as champion if he can get by Bill Neider, the Kansas sophomore. Neider went over 51 feet to win the Texas Relays.

"We have three high jumpers who can get above 6-feet 3-inches in Phil Heidelk. Ray Kelly and Merle Brestal and Chuck Hunley has tossed the javelin over 180 feet.

"Jim Hofstetter has been improving in the pole vault with his latest being 13 feet 3 inches," concluded Weir. "If all of these boys come through and we can pick up a point or two on the track, we may surprise a few people."

The Huskers will leave by train Thursday.

For the first time in four years there'll be a new figure at the head of the 100 and 220 ranks in the Big Seven meet. And, with Kansas State's Thane Baken gone, the competition for first place is sure to be hot and heavy when the conference runners convene at Boulder this weekend.

Baker was the first sprinter in the first 25 years of the Big Seven meet to win three crowns in either of the sprints. He shattered tradition with gusto, winning triples in both the 100 and 220. The flying Wildcat's :20.8 clocking in the 1952 prelims is the current conference record.

A quartet of football halfbacks dominated the dash scene at the Big Seven indoor meet in Kansas City last February with Oklahoma's Juel Sweatte becoming the heir-apparent to Baker's 100-yard dash crown by winning the 60. Corky Taylor of Kansas State and Carroll Hardy of Colorado chased Sweatte across the wire with Ron Gray of Colorado fifth. Dick Blair of Kansas, who finished fourth was the only non-footballer to place at Kansas City.

Blair has the fanciest time in the 100 so far this spring, a wind-blown :09.6 in the preliminaries at the Kansas Relays.

Following at :09.8 are Jerry Mershon of Kansas State, Gray and Sweatte. The Colorado speedster was caught in an unofficial :09.7 Friday when he was nipped by Colorado A & M's Alex Burl in the Rocky Mountain AAU meet.

Adam Fischer of Missouri and Hank Philmon, another footballer from Iowa State, have :10.0 marks to their credit.

Fisher and Gray finished fifth and sixth respectively last year—the only placers in the 100 returning.

Mershon's wind-helped :21.0 mark in the 220 is the top time in that event thus far. That's only .2 second off Baker's mark. Blair has a :21.2 which got him only second behind Mershon in a Kansas-Kansas State dual.

Gray ran :21.7 at Ames Saturday as Colorado lost to Iowa State in a dual and Sweatte follows closely at :21.8.

Fischer, who got a second-place tie last year, and Phil Beeler of Oklahoma, who finished sixth, are the only 220-place-winners back this year.

Gromek Wins 7th

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit's Steve Gromek matched his entire 1953 victory total and became the major league's seven-game winner Tuesday, breezing to an 8-3 victory over the slump-ridden Philadelphia Athletics.

The surprising 33-year-old righthander, who has lost only once this season, spaced six hits in sending the A's down to their fifth straight defeat and 11th in their last 12 games.

Billy Shantz, former Lincoln Western League catcher who has been hitting with authority for the Athletics, rapped out a double against the Tigers.

Yankees Rally To Move Past White Sox

By TOM BRANAGAN

CHICAGO (AP)—Gene Woodling's eighth-inning homer pulled the New York Yankees back into the game and Yogi Berra's run-scoring single in the ninth won it as the defending champions beat the Chicago White Sox 4-3 Tuesday night.

Woodling's homer, his first of the year, came off Sox starter Virgil Trucks with two out and Eddie Robinson, who had walked, on first. It tied the score 3-3.

It won the game for Johnny Sain, last of four New York pitchers.

The largest crowd of the season at Comiskey Park, 37,158, saw the under-the-lights contest.

The victory moved the Yanks into second place in the American League, eight percentage points ahead of the Sox. Both trail Cleveland by a game.

Until Woodling homered, the 35-year-old Trucks had been in complete charge, permitting the New Yorkers just five hits—never more than one an inning. The run they'd gotten off him, in the fifth, was unearned.

Meantime, the Sox got rid of Tom Morgan early, scoring two runs in the first inning on singles by Minnie Minoso, Ferris Fain and Cass Michaels and adding a third score on Fain's two-out homer in the third.

Hacker Masters Bums

BROOKLYN (AP)—Warren Hacker spun a neat four-hitter Tuesday night as the Chicago Cubs blasted the Brooklyn Dodgers, 7-1. The victory was Hacker's second of the year and his performance was marred only by Duke Snider's home run in the seventh for the Brooks' only run.

All the Cubs needed was their run production of the first inning when four Bruins crossed the plate. But they added three more in the eighth to make Hacker's task that much easier.

Cards Fall, 3-1; Bush Notches Sixth Victory

. . . Brown, Wilbur Draw Nods

Still on top of the Western League standings after splitting two games with Omaha, the high-flying Lincoln Chiefs return to Sherman Field tonight for a doubleheader against the third-place Sioux City Soos, starting at 6:30.

Fresh from a 3-1 win over the Cardinals Tuesday night, the Chiefs will toss Norm Brown (4-3) and George Dries (1-1) against the Soos' Ben Wilbur (5-1) and Les Klesitz (1-0).

Wilbur ranks with Andy Bush, who picked up his sixth win Tuesday night against one loss, as the league's top pitcher. Bush has the most wins in the circuit.

General Manager Bill Herring announced Tuesday that Gordon Bragg, utility outfielder, had been optioned to Iona, Kans., of the Western Association (Class C).

Bush put the Lincoln Chiefs back in the groove with a 3-1 decision over Omaha at municipal stadium before a crowd of 1,074.

Bush pitched a masterful game.

He allowed Omaha three singles and its lone run in the first inning and became progressively tougher after that.

The Cards managed only five more hits the rest of the way.

Gene Swinger, who relieved, was nicked for an unearned run in the eighth.

In the sixth, Fister walked McQuillen and, after the bases were loaded by a single and an intentional pass, Fister again lost the plate and walked in McQuillen with the winning run.

Billy Smith, with a single and a double in four trips, boosted his seasonal average to .459.

Denver, the Western League's second-place club, lost an 11-inning 10-8 decision to Pueblo Tuesday night and fell two games off the pace. The Bears meet Pueblo again Wednesday as the three-cornered race involving Lincoln, Denver and Sioux City continues close.

Denver now has 18 wins and 11 losses, compared to a 20-9 tally for the Chiefs. Sioux City is in third place with a 17-13 mark.

Rosen Bags A Pair

CLEVELAND (AP) — Al Rosen drove in three runs with two homers and a double Tuesday night as his Cleveland Indians held onto their slim first-place lead by beating Boston, 6-3.

It was Cleveland's sixth straight win.

Rosen's second home run of the game and eighth of the season—giving him the uncontested league lead—was a wallop off Loser Bill Henry in the sixth, tying the score at 3-3. Later in the same inning, a single by George Strickland broke the deadlock.

The Red Sox scored all three runs off Cleveland starter Art Houtteman — one in the first inninng and two in the second.

Ted Williams, playing although the temperature dropped to 53 degrees, got only one single in four chances.

Gil Hodges Near Grand Slam Mark

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — If Gil Hodges maintains his grand slam pace of the past five years, he appears a cinch to break the National League record for most home runs with the bases filled and may even threaten the major league mark.

The powerfully built Brooklyn first baseman smashed his 10th grand slammer to move within two of the league record of 12 established by Rogers Hornsby 20 years ago and equalled by Ralph Kiner last season. Lou Gehrig holds the major league mark of 23.

It took Hornsby 20 years to accumulate his dozen grand slams. Kiner, the only active National Leaguer with more four-run blows than Hodges, needed only eight years to collect his dozen.

Hodges' hurry-up pace is making Kiner's seem slow by comparison. Gil hit his first grand slammer on May 14, 1949, his second full season in the majors. Five years and two days later, he collected his 10th. Only 30 years old, the Indiana strong boy figures to have at least five or six more seasons.

Only 10 players have hit more home runs with the bases full than Hodges. Gehrig's 23 outdistances all the others by a wide margin. The closest to Lou's totals are the 16 by Babe Ruth from 1919 through 1934 and by Jimmy Foxx from 1930 through 1945.

Hornsby, Kiner, Joe DiMaggio, Hank Greenberg and Rudy York are tied for fourth with 12 each. Al Simmons and Ted Williams are next with 11 apiece followed by Hodges, Vern Stephens and long George Kelly, at 10 each. Only Williams and Stephens, in addition to Kiner and Hodges, still are active. Williams is 35 years old, Stephens 33, and Kiner 32.

Other active performers with high grand slam totals include Al Rosen, Cleveland 8; Sid Gordon and Walker Cooper, Pittsburgh; Andy Seminick, Cincinnati and Wally Westlake, Cleveland 7; Pee Wee Reese and Roy Campanella, Brooklyn; Andy Pafko, Milwaukee and Gus Zernial, Philadelphia Athletics 6; Ray Boone, Detroit and Yogi Berra, New York Yankees 5.

Boone banged four of them last year to tie a season record held by several others including Ruth, Rosen, Frank Schulte and Tommy Henrich.

Stan Musial and Hank Sauer, the only other currently active players besides Williams, Kiner and Stephens who have hit more than 200 major league home runs, have found it difficult to accomplish the four-run wallop. Musial has hit only three in 11 campaigns.

Giants Buy Hoot Evers

NEW YORK (INS) — The New York Giants Tuesday purchased veteran outfielder Hoot Evers from the Boston Red Sox. The Giants, seeking outfield and pinch-hitting assistance, admitted they paid "more than the waiver price" of $10,000 for the 33-year-old flychaser. To make room for Evers, the Giants optioned infielder Ronnie Samford to Oakland of the Pacific Coast League.

What Makes The Chiefs Tick?

Those battling guys known as the Lincoln Chiefs return to Sherman field tonight to do battle with another Indian tribe that has been trying to rule the heap big Western League.

Anderson

It will be the Sioux City Soos against the Chiefs in a double bill, starting at 6:30 p.m.

From all indications, this momentus meeting ranks as the most important early-season collision in the league. Both teams have been front-runners for three weeks. Both teams are loaded with players who like to fight you right down to the final out.

What is the secret of this current gang of Chiefs?

(1) Addition of such new speed and consistent-hitting guys as Billy Smith and Orinthal Anderson.

(2) A swift, slick-fielding first baseman in Admiral John Paul Jones.

(3) The fact that Red McQuillen and Tom Neill, the heavy-sticking senior guard of the outfield, were with the club through spring training and are in better shape than a year ago. Also, outfield depth is now available to spell them in the late innings for defensive purposes.

(4) There now is a lineup that includes eight men who are liable to hit, whereas a year ago the lineup was studded with two or three automatic outs

(4) Last but hardly least, Manager Whitey Wietelmann, a fireball who the fans have already taken to heart, is a versatile guy who comes in handy as a fill-in player. His pitching has been effective, as has his infielding and his good-humored piloting keeps the team "up" at all times. The Western League hasn't seen a skipper like this since Stan Hack was at the Des Moines helm.

The only uncertainty over the long stretch continues to be in pitching depth and in the left side of the infield.

Anderson has done a tremendous job in filling in at third base, mostly because of his rifle arm and his natural baseball gifts. He prefers to play the outfield, but his work at third may overcome his personal wants.

Shortstop is still up for grabs Larry Neal must still prove he can hit Western League pitching and a replacement has not been found for Dusty Rhodes, who joined the semi-pros.

Aside from Andy Bush and Norm Brown, the Chefs haven't shown a pitcher who can stay in command all the way. And Brown was shelled for three straight losses.

Opportune hitting and Reliefer Roger Wright have saved the pitching corps. Witness the 3-0 record of Vance Carlson who has yet to last out a game.

You are going to like Jerry Bush, the new University of Nebraska basketball coach.

The big guy (6-4 and 220 pounds) oozes with enthusiasm for his new job. He considers it a challenge to get every Nebraska prepper under the Cornhusker wing.

He is a personality guy, a good salesman and the type a high school youth would follow to a university.

His official meeting with his Husker squad was done in perfect taste. After a chat with each lad, Jerry showed the squad movies of several of his Toledo University games. The players had an immediate opportunity to grasp their new coach's style of play.

He even had available a written pamphlet which shows the Bush style in detail. The cagers were soon scanning the sheet.

The Bush style reminds your flinger of the Hank Iba style, which is good enough for anyone. He plays it opposite to what the opposition plays it, always with an eye on defense.

If the foe wants to play it slow, a Bush team will slip into high gear and attempt to outspeed and outpass 'em.

Even if sufficient talent is missing, it looks like an interesting basketball season coming up at the coliseum.

NU Field Strength Holds Key

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

So goes the field events, so goes the Nebraska Cornhuskers.

That will be the slogan in the 26th annual Big Seven outdoor track and field meet at Boulder, Colo., Friday and Saturday.

Coach Ed Weir's Huskers have been out-pointed on the track all season yet have never yielded to a foe in the field event totals.

"I look for Cliff Dale to be up there in the discus," commented Weir. "He has been over 155 feet and should give Oklahoma's Van Dee a good match.

"Ken Reiners, who has twice been over 51 feet in the shot putt, could come out as champion if he can get by Bill Neider, the Kansas sophomore. Neider went over 51 feet to win the Texas Relays.

"We have three high jumpers who can get above 6-feet 3-inches in Phil Heidelk, Ray Kelly and Merle Brestal and Chuck Hunley has tossed the javelin over 180 feet.

"Jim Hofstetter has been improving in the pole vault with his latest being 13 feet 3 inches," concluded Weir. "If all of these boys come through and we can pick up a point or two on the track, we may surprise a few people."

The Huskers will leave by train Thursday.

For the first time in four years there'll be a new figure at the head of the 100 and 220 ranks in the Big Seven meet. And, with Kansas State's Thane Baken gone, the competition for first place is sure to be hot and heavy when the conference runners convene at Boulder this weekend.

Baker was the first sprinter in the first 25 years of the Big Seven meet to win three crowns in either of the sprints. He shattered tradition with gusto, winning triples in both the 100 and 220. The flying Wildcat's :20.8 clocking in the 1952 prelims is the current conference record.

A quartet of football halfbacks dominated the dash scene at the Big Seven indoor meet in Kansas City last February with Oklahoma's Juel Sweatte becoming the heir-apparent to Baker's 100-yard dash crown by winning the 60. Corky Taylor of Kansas State and Carroll Hardy of Colorado chased Sweatte across the wire with Ron Gray of Colorado fifth. Dick Blair of Kansas, who finished fourth was the only non-footballer to place at Kansas City.

Blair has the fanciest time in the 100 so far this spring, a wind-blown :09.6 in the preliminaries at the Kansas Relays.

Following at :09.8 are Jerry Mershon of Kansas State, Gray and Sweatte. The Colorado speedster was caught in an unofficial :09.7 Friday when he was nipped by Colorado A & M's Alex Burl in the Rocky Mountain AAU meet.

Adam Fischer of Missouri and Hank Philmon, another footballer from Iowa State, have :10.0 marks to their credit.

Fisher and Gray finished fifth and sixth respectively last year—the only placers in the 100 returning.

Mershon's wind-helped :21.0 mark in the 220 is the top time in that event thus far. That's only .2 second off Baker's mark. Blair has a :21.2 which got him only second behind Mershon in a Kansas-Kansas State dual.

Gray ran :21.7 at Ames Saturday as Colorado lost to Iowa State in a dual and Sweatte follows closely at :21.8.

Gromek Wins 7th

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit's Steve Gromek matched his entire 1953 victory total and became the major league's seven-game winner Tuesday, breezing to an 8-3 victory over the slump-ridden Philadelphia Athletics.

The surprising 33-year-old righthander, who has lost only once this season, spaced six hits in sending the A's down to their fifth straight defeat and 11th in their last 12 games.

Billy Shantz, former Lincoln Western League catcher who has been hitting with authority for the Athletics, rapped out a double against the Tigers.

Yankees Rally To Move Past White Sox

By TOM BRANAGAN

CHICAGO (AP)—Gene Woodling's eighth-inning homer pulled the New York Yankees back into the game and Yogi Berra's run-scoring single in the ninth won it as the defending champions beat the Chicago White Sox 4-3 Tuesday night.

Woodling's homer, his first of the year, came off Sox starter Virgil Trucks with two out and Eddie Robinson, who had walked, on first. It tied the score 3-3

Berra's single to centerfield, also with two out, followed two passes issued by Don Johnson, who relieved Trucks at the start of the ninth inning.

It won the game for Johnny Sain, last of four New York pitchers.

The largest crowd of the season at Comiskey Park, 37,158, saw the under-the-lights contest.

The victory moved the Yanks into second place in the American League, eight percentage points ahead of the Sox. Both trail Cleveland by a game.

Until Woodling homered, the 35-year-old Trucks had been in complete charge, permitting the New Yorkers just five hits—never more than one an inning. The run they'd gotten off him, in the fifth, was unearned.

Meantime, the Sox got rid of Tom Morgan early, scoring two runs in the first inning on singles by Minnie Minoso, Ferris Fain and Cass Michaels and adding a third score on Fain's two-out homer in the third.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An explosive five-run third inning helped the Cincinati Redlegs trim the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-5 Tuesday night.

Hacker Masters Bums

BROOKLYN (AP)—Warren Hacker spun a neat four-hitter Tuesday night as the Chicago Cubs blasted the Brooklyn Dodgers, 7-1. The victory was Hacker's second of the year and his performance was marred only by Duke Snider's home run in the seventh for the Brooks' only run.

All the Cubs needed was their run production of the first inning when four Bruins crossed the plate. But they added three more in the eighth to make Hacker's task that much easier.

Cards Fall, 3-1; Bush Notches Sixth Victory

. . . Brown, Wilbur Draw Nods

Still on top of the Western League standings after splitting two games with Omaha, the high-flying Lincoln Chiefs return to Sherman Field tonight for a doubleheader against the third-place Sioux City Soos, starting at 6:30.

Fresh from a 3-1 win over the Cardinals Tuesday night, the Chiefs will toss Norm Brown (4-3) and George Dries (1-1) against the Soos' Ben Wilbur (5-1) and Les Klesitz (1-0).

Wilbur ranks with Andy Bush, who picked up his sixth win Tuesday night against one loss, as the league's top pitcher. Bush has the most wins in the circuit.

Following a three-game meeting with the Soos, the Chiefs will face Des Moines in three games before heading on a western road trip.

Andy Bush

He's the first pitcher in the Western League to win six games.

General Manager Bill Herring announced Tuesday that Gordon Bragg, utility outfielder, had been optioned to Iona, Kans., of the Western Association (Class C).

Bush put the Lincoln Chiefs back in the groove with a 3-1 decision over Omaha at municipal stadium before a crowd of 1,074.

Bush pitched a masterful game.

He allowed Omaha three singles and its lone run in the first inning and became progressively tougher after that.

The Cards managed only five more hits the rest of the way.

The Chiefs also scored in the first inning, then picked up the deciding run in the fourth, mainly on Roger Fister's wildness.

Gene Swinger, who relieved, was nicked for an unearned run in the eighth.

In the sixth, Fister walked McQuillen and, after the bases were loaded by a single and an intentional pass, Fister again lost the plate and walked in McQuillen with the winning run.

McQuillen's hitting streak ended at 14 as he failed to get a hit in three times at bat.

Billy Smith, with a single and a double in four trips, boosted his seasonal average to .459.

Denver, the Western League's second-place club, lost an 11-inning 10-8 decision to Pueblo Tuesday night and fell two games off the pace. The Bears meet Pueblo again Wednesday as the three-cornered race involving Lincoln, Denver and Sioux City continues close.

Denver now has 18 wins and 11 losses, compared to a 20-9 tally for the Chiefs. Sioux City is in third place with a 17-13 mark.

Rosen Bags A Pair

CLEVELAND (AP) — Al Rosen drove in three runs with two homers and a double Tuesday night as his Cleveland Indians held onto their slim first-place lead by beating Boston, 6-3.

It was Cleveland's sixth straight win.

Rosen's second home run of the game and eighth of the season—giving him the uncontested league lead—was a wallop off Loser Bill Henry in the sixth, tying the score at 3-3. Later in the same inning, a single by George Strickland broke the deadlock.

The Red Sox scored all three runs off Cleveland starter Art Houtteman — one in the first inninng and two in the second.

Ted Williams, playing although the temperature dropped to 53 degrees, got only one single in four chances.

Welterweights On TV Tonight

Fiore Is 8-5 Favorite Over Jed Black

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP)—Carmine Fiore, a punishing left hooker from Brooklyn, is an 8 to 5 favorite to hand hard-working Jed Black of Janesville, Wis., his first loss in 20 months tonight.

These unranked, but promising 24-year-old welterweights clash in a nationally televised 10-rounder in Olympia stadium starting at 8 p.m. CST.

Black, a pug-nosed graduate of Michigan State College, is unbeaten in his last 27 bouts, winning 26 times and fighting a rousing draw with soldier Chico Vejar.

Black dropped his third professional start Oct. 1, 1952—a four-round decision to Herbie Schoen. Several weeks later he knocked out Schoen and now has an overall record of 28-1-1.

Fiore's record, at least on paper, isn't nearly as impressive —25-15-5. But the scowling Brooklyn belter has won seven straight with one of the meanest left hooks in the game.

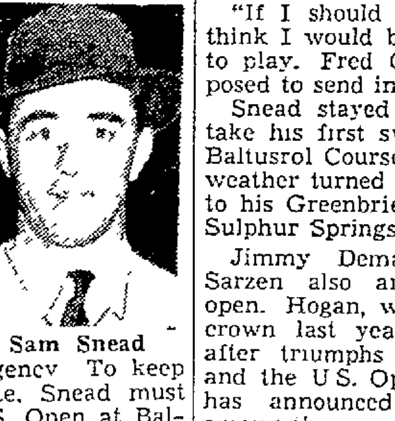
Since being knocked out by Carmine Basilo in the ninth round April 11, 1953, Fiore has beaten Archie Whitewater, Joey Klein, Danny Giovenelli, Danny Womber, Phil Kim and, most recently, Italo Scortichini. He has scored 17 knockouts.

Black, whose nose was bashed in as a teenage sandlot football player, and not in the ring, is a close friend of Chuck Davey and fought his first pro fight on the card which saw Davey beat Rocky Graziano.

The Fiore fight may be Black's last for some time. The former intercollegiate champion, a member of the ROTC while at Michigan State, is expected to enter the Army, May 23, as a 2nd lieutenant.

Sam Enters British Open, Will Attempt Big Three

NEW YORK (AP)—Sam Snead's big golf goal this year is to duplicate Ben Hogan's "little slam" of 1953—that is, win the Masters, U.S. and British Opens in a single season.



Sam Snead

Fred Corcoran, Snead's business consultant, said Tuesday Sam had filed an entry for the British Championship scheduled July 5-9 at Royal Birkdale — with one contingency To keep the overseas date, Snead must first win the U.S. Open at Baltusroll in Springfield, N.J., June 17-19. This is a title which has been carefully avoiding the West Virginian for 17 years.

"I'd like to play in the British Open but it would all depend on how I do at Baltusrol," Sam said after scoring a record victory in the round robin at Suburban Meadow Brook.

"If I should win the open I think I would be almost certain to play. Fred Corcoran is supposed to send in my entry."

Snead stayed over, hoping to take his first swing around the Baltusrol Course. But when the weather turned bad, he returned to his Greenbrier base at White Sulphur Springs, West Va.

Jimmy Demaret and Gene Sarzen also are entering the open. Hogan, who captured the crown last year at Carnoustie after triumphs in the Masters and the U.S. Open at Oakmont, has announced he won't be among the competitors.

Sam won the British Open in 1946 in a spur-of-the-comment venture.

Corcoran entered his name without Snead knowing it. Sam had no idea of going, not even after the news was broken to him that his name was on the list.

"I remember Sam was playing at Toledo at the time," Corcoran recalled. "He was complaining about his putting. He said he couldn't play in Britain because his putting had gone sour.

"Walter Hagen happened to be on hand at the time. So he called Sam into the locker room and gave him a five-minute putting lesson.

"I remember Hagen told Snead to concentrate on hitting the equator or the center of the ball instead of hitting the ground. It was all psychological. But Sam corrected his putting and went over to St. Andrews to win the tournament.

"I remember it vividly because the next day the papers carried a big story on how Hagen had cured Sam's putting ills. Right next to the story in one paper was one of those syndicated panels entitled: 'How to putt—by Sam Snead.'"

COLUMBIA, Mo., (AP) — The University of Missouri defeated the University of Nebraska 18-1 here Tuesday afternoon to sweep a two-game series with the Cornhuskers and clinch at least a tie for the Big Seven Conference championship.

Gene Gastineau and Norm Stewart took turns with the M.U. pitching after that, with the lone Husker run coming off Gastineau in the seventh.

Alliance, Scottsbluff Bid For Game District

Alliance and Scottsbluff are making spirited bids for one of the proposed new game commission district headquarters, according to Secretary Paul Gilbert. Letters of inquiry also have come from Kimball, Morrill, Gordon and Bridgeport, all within the district.

The game commission plans to decentralize parts of its operations by setting up five districts in the state. Gilbert said indications are now the new setup may be in operation by November.

Valentine, North Platte and Lincoln are pretty definite as headquarter sites, he said. For the northeast district, Wayne, Fremont, Norfolk, Tilden and Hartington have been mentioned as possibilities.

Minoso Sued For $250,000

CHICAGO (AP)—Orestes (Minnie) Minoso, Chicago White Sox outfielder, was named defendant Tuesday in a $250,000 breach of promise suit.

Barbara Swader, 22, of Chicago, claimed in her suit filed in circuit court that Minoso is the father of her daughter, Lynette, born in May, 1953, and named after Minoso's mother.

Miss Swader said in the suit that Minoso had acknowledged he is the father of the child, that he contributed $110 monthly for its support for the first three months after its birth and that he sent Christmas gifts to "My Lynette" in 1953 "with love and a million kisses from your father."

Minoso was not immediately available for comment.

Giardello Tabbed Whip Langlois

NEW YORK (AP)— Jean Bretonnel smiled when he was told Monday the smart set had made his Pierre Langlois a 4-1 underdog against Joey Giardello for the middleweight 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

"4 to 1," he mused. "Zat is good. When will zey learn. Pierre he will show zem just like Jacques and Hoacine."

If Bretonnel had laughed loudly at the odds no one would have been surprised.

Two of the Frenchman's stable of seven Gallic gladiators had turned in two resounding upsets in succession and before large television audiences, too.

Bears Cut Roster

DENVER (AP) — The Denver Bears trimmed their roster to the 19-player limit Tuesday by cutting off pitchers Mike Conovan and Chuck Lehran and first baseman Neal Hertweck.

In addition, pitcher Bob Geley, who has a sore arm, was placed on the disabled list.

Following the Denver trim, Hertwick was picked up by the Omaha Cardinals. He played with Omaha in 1952.

Bruin Home Runs Ruin Lloyd, Sioux City, 4-1

SIOUX CITY, Ia. (AP)—Three Des Moines homers accounted for all the Bruins scoring in a 4-1 victory over Sioux City Tuesday night.

Bob Speake hit one with the bases empty in the first. Jim Reiter did it with Vern Morgan aboard with a double in the third and Burdette Thurlby led off the fifth with his smash.

The only Soos scoring against Don Elston came in the second when Willie White walked, swiped second, advanced on Dick Getter's single off Ed Winceniak's glove and scored as Dave Garcia lined a single to right.

The victory was Des Moines' fourth in a row after a five-game losing streak. Conversely, it was Sioux City's fourth straight defeat following a seven-game winning string.

Dodgers Hit Bears 10-8 In Marathon

DENVER (AP)—Pueblo broke a 10-game losing streak here Tuesday night by beating second-place Denver, 10-8, in an 11-inning, 3-hour and 40 minute Western league tilt.

Dodger Frank Jeffers broke the deadlock in the top of the 11th with a triple to right center and the Bears failed to match the two Pueblo runs in their half of the second extra frame.

Each team used four pitchers and both lost good leads during the contest. The Bears lost an early 4-2 edge to Pueblo's six-run seventh and then tied it again in the botton of the eighth. Denver missed a chance to wrap it up in that frame when Rocco Ippolito and Reno De Benedetti fanned with two on.

Schmeling Applauded In Referee Debut

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Max Schmeling's American debut as a boxing referee Tuesday night produced applause, laughter and a few boos.

The former world heavyweight champion from Germany got a few catcalls as he entered the ring to referee the first of two six-round preliminary bouts on the Hans Stretz-Billy Kilgore card.

The crowd estimated at 2,200 was generous with its applause when Schmeling was introduced.

The laughter came from those close enough to ringside to hear Schmeling's sharp, gutteral commands to the boxers during the bouts.

Germany's middleweight champion, Stretz, made an impressive American debut tonight by winning a convincing, unanimous decision from Kilgore, Miami veteran.

Fiore Is 8-5 Favorite Over Jed Black

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP)—Carmine Fiore, a punishing left hooker from Brooklyn, is an 8 to 5 favorite to hand hard-working Jed Black of Janesville, Wis., his first loss in 20 months tonight.

These unranked, but promising 24-year-old welterweights clash in a nationally televised 10-rounder in Olympia stadium starting at 8 p.m. CST.

Black, a pug-nosed graduate of Michigan State College, is unbeaten in his last 27 bouts, winning 26 times and fighting a rousing draw with soldier Chico Vejar.

Black dropped his third professional start Oct. 1, 1952—a four-round decision to Herbie Schoen. Several weeks later he knocked out Schoen and now has an overall record of 28-1-1.

Fiore's record, at least on paper, isn't nearly as impressive —25-15-5. But the scowling Brooklyn belter has won seven straight with one of the meanest left hooks in the game.

Since being knocked out by Carmine Basilo in the ninth round April 11, 1953, Fiore has beaten Archie Whitewater, Joey Klein, Danny Giovenelli, Danny Womber, Phil Kim and, most recently, Italo Scortichini. He has scored 17 knockouts.

Black, whose nose was bashed in as a teenage sandlot football player, and not in the ring, is a close friend of Chuck Davey and fought his first pro fight on the card which saw Davey beat Rocky Graziano.

The Fiore fight may be Black's last for some time. The former intercollegiate champion, a member of the ROTC while at Michigan State, is expected to enter the Army, May 23, as a 2nd lieutenant.

Sam Enters British Open, Will Attempt Big Three

NEW YORK (AP)—Sam Snead's big golf goal this year is to duplicate Ben Hogan's "little slam" of 1953—that is, win the Masters, U.S. and British Opens in a single season.

Sam Snead

Fred Corcoran, Snead's business consultant, said Tuesday Sam had filed an entry for the British Championship scheduled July 5-9 at Royal Birkdale — with one contingency. To keep the overseas date, Snead must first win the U.S. Open at Baltusroll in Springfield, N.J., June 17-19. This is a title which has been carefully avoiding the West Virginian for 17 years.

"I'd like to play in the British Open but it would all depend on how I do at Baltusrol," Sam said after scoring a record victory in the round robin at Suburban Meadow Brook.

"If I should win the open I think I would be almost certain to play. Fred Corcoran is supposed to send in my entry."

Snead stayed over, hoping to take his first swing around the Baltusrol Course. But when the weather turned bad, he returned to his Greenbrier base at White Sulphur Springs, West Va.

Jimmy Demaret and Gene Sarzen also are entering the open. Hogan, who captured the crown last year at Carnoustie after triumphs in the Masters and the U.S. Open at Oakmont, has announced he won't be among the competitors.

Snead already has won the 1954 Masters, in a dramatic playoff with Hogan. He is, as usual, one of the hotshot favorites at Baltusrol.

Sam won the British Open in 1946 in a spur-of-the-comment venture.

Corcoran entered his name without Snead knowing it. Sam had no idea of going, not even after the news was broken to him that his name was on the list.

"I remember Sam was playing at Toledo at the time," Corcoran recalled. "He was complaining about his putting. He said he couldn't play in Britain because his putting had gone sour.

"Walter Hagen happened to be on hand at the time. So he called Sam into the locker room and gave him a five-minute putting lesson.

"I remember Hagen told Snead to concentrate on hitting the equator or the center of the ball instead of hitting the ground. It was all psychological. But Sam corrected his putting and went over to St. Andrews to win the tournament.

"I remember it vividly because the next day the papers carried a big story on how Hagen had cured Sam's putting ills. Right next to the story in one paper was one of those syndicated panels entitled: 'How to putt—by Sam Snead.'"

Emil Kammer held the Cornhuskers scoreless for the first five innings while his mates were capitalizing on pitching and fielding errors of the visitors to pile up 13 runs behind him. Gene Gastineau and Norm Stewart took turns with the M.U. pitching after that, with the lone Husker run coming off Gastineau in the seventh.

Giardello Tabbed Whip Langlois

NEW YORK (AP)— Jean Bretonnel smiled when he was told Monday the smart set had made his Pierre Langlois a 4-1 underdog against Joey Giardello for the middleweight 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

"4 to 1," he mused. "Zat is good. When will zey learn. Pierre he will show zem just like Jacques and Hoacine."

If Bretonnel had laughed loudly at the odds no one would have been surprised.

Two of the Frenchman's stable of seven Gallic gladiators had turned in two resounding upsets in succession and before large television audiences, too.

Bears Cut Roster

DENVER (AP) — The Denver Bears trimmed their roster to the 19-player limit Tuesday by cutting off pitchers Mike Conovan and Chuck Lehran and first baseman Neal Hertweck.

In addition, pitcher Bob Galey, who has a sore arm, was placed on the disabled list.

Following the Denver trim, Hertwick was picked up by the Omaha Cardinals. He played with Omaha in 1952.

Bruin Home Runs Ruin Lloyd, Sioux City, 4-1

SIOUX CITY, Ia. (AP)—Three Des Moines homers accounted for all the Bruins scoring in a 4-1 victory over Sioux City Tuesday night.

Bob Speake hit one with the bases empty in the first, Jim Reiter did it with Vern Morgan aboard with a double in the third and Burdette Thurlby led off the fifth with his smash.

The only Soos scoring against Don Elston came in the second when Willie White walked, swiped second, advanced on Dick Getter's single off Ed Winceniak's glove and scored as Dave Garcia lined a single to right.

The victory was Des Moines' fourth in a row after a five-game losing streak. Conversely, it was Sioux City's fourth straight defeat following a seven-game winning string.

Dodgers Hit Bears 10-8 In Marathon

DENVER (AP)—Pueblo broke a 10-game losing streak here Tuesday night by beating second-place Denver, 10-8, in an 11-inning, 3-hour and 40 minute Western league tilt.

Dodger Frank Jeffers broke the deadlock in the top of the 11th with a triple to right center and the Bears failed to match the two Pueblo runs in their half of the second extra frame.

Each team used four pitchers and both lost good leads during the contest. The Bears lost an early 4-2 edge to Pueblo's six-run seventh and then tied it again in the botton of the eighth. Denver missed a chance to wrap it up in that frame when Rocco Ippolito and Reno De Benedetti fanned with two on.

Schmeling Applauded In Referee Debut

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Max Schmeling's American debut as a boxing referee Tuesday night produced applause, laughter and a few boos.

The former world heavyweight champion from Germany got a few catcalls as he entered the ring to referee the first of two six-round preliminary bouts on the Hans Stretz-Billy Kilgore card.

The crowd estimated at 2,200 was generous with its applause when Schmeling was introduced.

The laughter came from those close enough to ringside to hear Schmeling's sharp, gutteral commands to the boxers during the bouts.

Business Pals Snead, Williams Shine Brightly On Same Day

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a great day for the partners in the fishing tackle business, and they didn't sell a fly rod.

Vice President Sam Snead shoots a final round of 65 for a total of 62 points to win the Round Robin Golf Tournament with a record margin of 36 points and President Ted Williams gets eight hits, including two home runs, in his first two starting assignments in left field for the Boston Red Sox after breaking his collar bone.

Odd that these two outstanding stars of different sports should team to supply the needs of addicts of still another sport.

Their personalities have little in common, aside from the fact both are what you might call vibrant. Each has a magnetic affect on crowds, but whereas Williams is a controversial, challenging figure, Snead has the lure of simplicity and geniality.

But one native trait they do have in common. Both were born to drama. Their successes are spectacular; their failures colossal. There is no half-way ground.

Snead has won everything in golf except the National Open. His scoring records are phenomenal, and in any tournament he is a man to beat.

Yet his failures, particularly in the National Open, have spotlighted him even more than his successes, in that they always seem to come at dramatic moments, when victory is within his grasp.

The fans know he has won the British Open, the Masters thrice, and the PGA a like number of times, not to speak of scores of lesser events.

Yet when they think of him they think of that horrendous eight on the final hole of the 1939 Open, or his missed 30½-inch putt which gave Lew Worsham the victory in the playoff for the 1947 championship, or how he used a putter out of heavy grass on the 71st hole of the 1949 Open and thus muffed a chance to overtake Cary Middlecoff.

Williams' spectacular failures have been fewer. In fact, you have to go back to the 1946 World Series to find one worthy of note. His contribution to the Red Sox cause in the seven games was five singles.

But his greatest triumphs have been staged with a dramatic flair that could be accomplished only by a gerat competitor. His ability to rise to the occasion under the merciless glare of the spotlight is unsurpassed.

There was his towering home run in the ninth inning to give the American League victory in the 1941 All Star game. There was his stirring performance in the 1946 All-Star game, with his four-for-four including two home runs.

And there was that final day of the 1941 season when he could have remained out of the lineup and been sure he would finish with a .400 average, but chose to play and finished with .406.

And there was his farewell before returning to the Marines—a home run in his final at bat.

A really gerat golfer, and a really great baseball player. And what did they talk about over the phone last Sunday night after both had enjoyed one of the finest days in their respective fields?

Fishing!

Stahnke Files For County Commission

Marshall G. Stahnke, Lincoln plumbing company president, has completed his filing for election on the Republican ticket to the office of County Commissioner from the second district.

Stahnke's is the second filing for the post to be vacated by Commissioner Chauncey E. Barney. Del Lienemann, certified public accountant, has also filed for the office on the Republican ticket.

A Lincoln resident since 1925, Stahnke, 50, has been head of the Marshall Stahnke Plumbing and Heating Co. at 4800 Pioneers for 21 years. He is married and has one daughter.

"I have no ax to grind," said Stahnke, "and will concentrate if elected on the application of good common business judgment in county affairs. I believe in economy and in giving the taxpayers the most for their money."

Stahnke stated he would never be too occupied "to give consideration to the little man's problems."

Before organizing his own firm in 1933, Stahnke worked as a plumber and bricklayer for Felix Lorenze, former Lincoln builder. Stahnke is a member of the Lions Club, the local and state Master Plumbers Association and an associate member of the Lincoln Home Builders Association.

NU Third Among 45 Giving Engineer Bars

The University of Nebraska is rated as third among 45 universities and colleges commissioning second lieutenants in the Corps of Engineers, according to Lt. Col. James D. Strong of the office of Chief of Engineer, Department of Army.

The rating is based on the academic standings, over a long period of time, of newly commissioned Engineer officers at the basic course of the Army Engineer School at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Only graduates of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Drexel Institute rated higher than the Nebraska ROTC graduates, he said.

Business Pals Snead, Williams Shine Brightly On Same Day

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a great day for the partners in the fishing tackle business, and they didn't sell a fly rod.

Vice President Sam Snead shoots a final round of 65 for a total of 62 points to win the Round Robin Golf Tournament with a record margin of 36 points and President Ted Williams gets eight hits, including two home runs, in his first two starting assignments in left field for the Boston Red Sox after breaking his collar bone.

Odd that these two outstanding stars of different sports should team to supply the needs of addicts of still another sport.

Their personalities have little in common, aside from the fact both are what you might call vibrant. Each has a magnetic affect on crowds, but whereas Williams is a controversial, challenging figure, Snead has the lure of simplicity and geniality.

But one native trait they do have in common. Both were born to drama. Their successes are spectacular; their failures colossal. There is no half-way ground.

Snead has won everything in golf except the National Open. His scoring records are phenomenal, and in any tournament he is a man to beat.

Yet his failures, particularly in the National Open, have spotlighted him even more than his successes, in that they always seem to come at dramatic moments, when victory is within his grasp.

The fans know he has won the British Open, the Masters thrice, and the PGA a like number of times, not to speak of scores of lesser events.

Yet when they think of him they think of that horrendous eight on the final hole of the 1939 Open, or his missed 30½-inch putt which gave Lew Worsham the victory in the playoff for the 1947 championship, or how he used a putter out of heavy grass on the 71st hole of the 1949 Open and thus muffed a chance to overtake Cary Middlecoff.

Williams' spectacular failures have been fewer. In fact, you have to go back to the 1946 World Series to find one worthy of note. His contribution to the Red Sox cause in the seven games was five singles.

But his greatest triumphs have been staged with a dramatic flair that could be accomplished only by a gerat competitor. His ability to rise to the occasion under the merciless glare of the spotlight is unsurpassed.

There was his towering home run in the ninth inning to give the American League victory in the 1941 All Star game. There was his stirring performance in the 1946 All-Star game, with his four-for-four including two home runs.

And there was that final day of the 1941 season when he could have remained out of the lineup and been sure he would finish with a .400 average, but chose to play and finished with .406.

And there was his farewell before returning to the Marines—a home run in his final at bat.

A really gerat golfer, and a really great baseball player. And what did they talk about over the phone last Sunday night after both had enjoyed one of the finest days in their respective fields?

MARSHALL G. STAHNKE

Stahnke Files For County Commission

Marshall G. Stahnke, Lincoln plumbing company president, has completed his filing for election on the Republican ticket to the office of County Commissioner from the second district.

Stahnke's is the second filing for the post to be vacated by Commissioner Chauncey E. Barney. Del Lienemann, certified public accountant, has also filed for the office on the Republican ticket.

A Lincoln resident since 1925, Stahnke, 50, has been head of the Marshall Stahnke Plumbing and Heating Co. at 4800 Pioneers for 21 years. He is married and has one daughter.

"I have no ax to grind," said Stahnke, "and will concentrate if elected on the application of good common business judgment in county affairs. I believe in economy and in giving the taxpayers the most for their money."

Stahnke stated he would never be too occupied "to give consideration to the little man's problems."

Before organizing his own firm in 1933, Stahnke worked as a plumber and bricklayer for Felix Lorenze, former Lincoln builder. Stahnke is a member of the Lions Club, the local and state Master Plumbers Association and an associate member of the Lincoln Home Builders Association.

Etter Will Speak At Church Meeting

Orval Etter, of Berkeley, Calif., Far West secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, attorney and municipal research specialist, will speak at a public meeting at the Church of the Brethren, Sumner Street and Normal Blvd., at 7:30 p.m., Friday. His subject will be "What Can the Church Say Now About War?"

Mr. Etter, who has been a lay-leader in the First Methodist Church in Eugene, Ore., is a member of the Oregon State Bar and was associated for some years with the Bureau of Municipal Research of the University of Oregon. As legal advisor to the League of Oregon Cities, Mr. Etter drafted a number of charters for Oregon cities and several acts adopted by the Oregon Legislature. He is a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

City Leases 9.4 Acres Near Lake From County

The city has leased from the county for nine years a 9.4 acre triangular tract of ground west of Oak Creek Park and south of Oak Creek.

The area adjoins the city's park property. It will be used as it has in the past by the Model Airplane Club and will have some parking facilities for Oak Creek Park visitors.

No consideration is involved.

Paving Contract For $96,662 Given Abel Construction

One of the largest paving contracts of the year has been awarded by the City Council to Abel Construction Co. on that firm's bid of $96,662.40.

Streets included in the district are A, 56th to 58th; Sumner, 53rd to the east line of Park Manor; all of Circle Dr.; all of Sunset Rd. and 58th, A to Sumner. The area is being developed for housing by the Peterson Construction Co.

NU Third Among 45 Giving Engineer Bars

The University of Nebraska is rated as third among 45 universities and colleges commissioning second lieutenants in the Corps of Engineers, according to Lt. Col. James D. Strong of the office of Chief of Engineer, Department of Army.

The rating is based on the academic standings, over a long period of time, of newly commissioned Engineer officers at the basic course of the Army Engineer School at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Only graduates of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Drexel Institute rated higher than the Nebraska ROTC graduates, he said.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK (AP)—Speculative bonds were in demand and low-yield obligations in disfavor in a busy bond market Tuesday.

"Big Board" volume jumped to $1,981,000 par value from $3,820,000 Monday as medium grade railroads and convertible securities found ready buyers. It was the most active session in three months. High grade utilities and industrials lost ground.

U. S. government bonds continued Monday's decline.

Several banks, insurance companies and pension funds were reported neglecting high grade government and corporate bonds because yields have declined so drastically in recent months. Tuesday's rush for lower-priced higher-yielding securities indicates where some of this investment money is going, financial circles said.

Wheat Sales Up, Beans Drop Again

CHICAGO (AP)—While the terrific liquidation in old crop soybean contracts continued on the Board of Trade Tuesday, other grains attracted a pretty aggressive demand. Wheat particularly made a good showing, gaining as much as 3¼ cents.

May and July soybeans did some wild jumping around in the early trading, although quieting down later. Opening strong, May gained more than 5 cents and July was up 2½ cents in the first few minutes of dealings. Then came the deluge.

May and July both tumbled to where they were 10 cents below the previous finish, the limit decline permitted in a single session. They rallied from that point, May closing the day down 5 cents while July was off 7¼ cents.

Wheat finished 1¼-3¼ higher, corn ⅞-1¼ higher, oats ¼-⅞ higher, rye ¼-1¼ higher, new crop soybeans 2¼-3½ higher and lard 30 cents lower to 20 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Stocks Progress, But Going Rough

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market made a little progress Tuesday, but the going was rough.

Selling in late trading cut back prices all around from their best levels of the day.

Steels and aircrafts were the mainstay of the market throughout most of the session, but they finally faded away to minor gains and losses.

Railroads did rather well until the home stretch and then fell away to the losing side of the market on average.

The highly selective nature of trading and the apparent willingness of traders and others to take their profits was commented on by brokers who have been cautioning a near-term reaction.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks added 10 cents at a new high for the year of $124.30. It was up 20 cents Monday. The average now stands at the highest level of the last 24 years, a record level that has been touched a number of times in the past few weeks.

The industrial component gained 20 cents at a new high of $169.40, utilities were up 10 cents at a new high of $60.00, while the railroads declined 10 cents.

Volume expanded to 2,250,000 shares. That compares with 2,040,000 shares traded Monday.

The American Stock Exchange was mostly higher on 550,000 shares as against 570,000 shares traded Monday.

President
Stitzel-Weller Distillery
Louisville, Kentucky
Established 1849

Many folks think the longer any whiskey ages the better it gets. As the little song says "It Ain't Necessarily So." Depends on the whiskey!

Some whiskies, like some old codgers I know, grow old ungracefully. These are the light-bodied whiskies, distilled at high proof, with so many of the natural bourbon flavors boiled out of them that they mature quickly, then go on to pick up undesirable woody flavors if allowed to remain in oak too long.

On the other hand, original sour mash bourbon, the sole specialty of our small family-owned-and-operated distillery, is purposely distilled at low proof to preserve all its natural full bourbon flavor.

OLD FITZGERALD goes into the barrel a pretty rugged boy, and is the kind of whiskey that takes to aging like a mule to pasture. In new, deep-charred white oak, it matures to flavorful excellence in four years, and continues to acquire additional character with each succeeding year of seasoning. Having sufficient body in itself, it repels the woody flavor of the staves, and emerges after 4 to 8 years as the smoothest, most satisfying bourbon any man can pour.

One of our friends told us recently, perhaps a mite too enthusiastically —"Old Fitz is just too good to be called whiskey!"

For the business executive who likes to mix a bit of moderation with his hospitality, we do find that our OLD FITZGERALD has special appeal. In serving the best, never the most, he compliments both himself and guest, and compensates with additional flavor and enjoyment what he wisely limits in number of drinks.

We invite you to join this circle of business hosts who have discovered OLD FITZGERALD for themselves, and find it good business to share, in moderation, with associates and friends.

Kentucky Straight Bourbon Whiskey, Bonded, 100 Proof

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK (AP)—Speculative bonds were in demand and low-yield obligations in disfavor in a busy bond market Tuesday.

"Big Board" volume jumped to $4,961,000 par value from $3,820,000 Monday as medium grade railroads and convertible securities found ready buyers. It was the most active session in three months. High grade utilities and industrials lost ground.

U. S. government bonds continued Monday's decline.

Several banks, insurance companies and pension funds were reported neglecting high grade government and corporate bonds because yields have declined so drastically in recent months. Tuesday's rush for lower-priced higher-yielding securities indicates where some of this investment money is going, financial circles said.

Wheat Sales Up, Beans Drop Again

CHICAGO (AP)—While the terrific liquidation in old crop soybean contracts continued on the Board of Trade Tuesday, other grains attracted a pretty aggressive demand. Wheat particularly made a good showing, gaining as much as 3¼ cents.

May and July soybeans did some wild jumping around in the early trading, although quieting down later. Opening strong, May gained more than 5 cents and July was up 2½ cents in the first few minutes of dealings. Then came the deluge.

May and July both tumbled to where they were 10 cents below the previous finish, the limit decline permitted in a single session. They rallied from that point, May closing the day down 5 cents while July was off 7¾ cents.

Wheat finished 1¼-3¼ higher, corn ⅝-1¼ higher, oats ¼-¾ higher, rye ¾-1¼ higher, new crop soybeans 2¼-3½ higher and lard 30 cents lower to 20 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Stocks Progress, But Going Rough

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market made a little progress Tuesday, but the going was rough.

Selling in late trading cut back prices all around from their best levels of the day.

Steels and aircrafts were the mainstay of the market throughout most of the session, but they finally faded away to minor gains and losses.

Railroads did rather well until the home stretch and then fell away to the losing side of the market on average.

The highly selective nature of trading and the apparent willingness of traders and others to take their profits was commented on by brokers who have been cautioning a near-term reaction.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks added 10 cents at a new high for the year of $124.30. It was up 20 cents Monday. The average now stands at the highest level of the last 24 years, a record level that has been touched a number of times in the past few weeks.

The industrial component gained 20 cents at a new high of $169.40, utilities were up 10 cents at a new high of $60.00, while the railroads declined 10 cents.

Volume expanded to 2,250,000 shares. That compares with 2,040,000 shares traded Monday.

The American Stock Exchange was mostly higher on 550,000 shares as against 570,000 shares traded Monday.

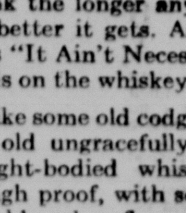
A WHISKEY FACT FEW MEN KNOW

by
J. P. Van Winkle
President
Stitzel-Weller Distillery
Louisville, Kentucky
Established 1849



Many folks think the longer any whiskey ages the better it gets. As the little song says "It Ain't Necessarily So." Depends on the whiskey!

Some whiskies, like some old codgers I know, grow old ungracefully. These are the light-bodied whiskies, distilled at high proof, with so many of the natural bourbon flavors boiled out of them that they mature quickly, then go on to pick up undesirable woody flavors if allowed to remain in oak too long.

On the other hand, original sour mash bourbon, the sole specialty of our small family-owned-and-operated distillery, is purposely distilled at low proof to preserve all its natural full bourbon flavor.

OLD FITZGERALD goes into the barrel a pretty rugged boy, and is the kind of whiskey that takes to aging like a mule to pasture. In new, deep-charred white oak, it matures to flavorful excellence in four years, and continues to acquire additional character with each succeeding year of seasoning. Having sufficient body in itself, it repels the woody flavor of the staves, and emerges after 4 to 8 years as the smoothest, most satisfying bourbon any man can pour.

One of our friends told us recently, perhaps a mite too enthusiastically—"Old Fitz is just too good to be called whiskey!"

For the business executive who likes to mix a bit of moderation with his hospitality, we do find that our OLD FITZGERALD has special appeal. In serving the best, never the most, he compliments both himself and guest, and compensates with additional flavor and enjoyment what he wisely limits in number of drinks.

We invite you to join this circle of business hosts who have discovered OLD FITZGERALD for themselves, and find it good business to share, in moderation, with associates and friends.

Kentucky Straight Bourbon Whiskey, Bonded, 100 Proof

Here Is A Position
Looking For A Certain
Capable Young Lady!
Probably not too many in Lincoln could fill the desk of a Journal & Star Want Ad Saleswoman. This girl must be extra pleasant, and enjoy co-operating and helping the nice people who advertise in The Journal & Star Want Ads
She must be between 20 and 40, at least a high school graduate, an accurate typist, have a real sense of responsibility, and do simple arithmetic quickly . . . and very important— she must have a clear, pleasant voice on the telephone.
She will work in a pleasant office with helpful associates, get a paid vacation, and learn a lot about advertising. She will work a 40 hour week, 8:30 to 5:30 with Wed. off, and if she is a capable girl with lots of drive her earnings will be well above average.
If you have the qualifications for this interesting, specialized work — call Mr. Golding, 2-3331 between 8:30 & 10 am or between 4:00 & 4:30 pm to arrange an interview.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
